Ike Signs Bill Intended To Aid In Curbing Reds

DENVER, Sept. 3 —UP— A bill providing the death penalty for peacetime spying was signed into law Friday by President Eisenhower, all but completing the government's powerful, new Communist-control program.

The chief executive later was expected to sign the two remaining bills on the "anti-subversive" package left on his desk by the 83rd Congress—the foreign aid appropriations measure and the bill stripping convicted Communists of their citizenship.

The President, obviously working rapidly to complete the jobs left for him by Congress, was at his summer White House offices at Lowry Air Force Base here Friday by 7:30 a. m.

One of the 11 measures he signed was the bill authorizing 179 navigation, erosion, flood control, and rivers and harbors projects. The bill authorized the expenditure of $1,072,351,814 but the appropriation request must be sent to the next Congress by the chief executive.

The foreign aid appropriation carries $2,781,499,816 in new funds to give military and economic help to friendly nations. It also authorizes the expenditure of $2,462,075,979 in unspent money for aid to these countries. The measure thus makes available $5,243,575,795 for spending in friendly nations during the current fiscal year.

The last of the anti-subversive measures to be signed would re-

Red Spy Ring In Greece Smashed; Leader Is Held

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 3 (AP) — Premier Marshal Alexander Papagos announced tonight the shattering of a Communist espionage network directed against Greece and her allies.

He called it "the greatest success" scored against communism here since the end of the Greek civil war in 1949.

A prepared government statement, however, listed few details and did not give the number arrested, the manner of the operation, or say how the plot was uncovered.

Basil Vrachnos, undersecretary of the Ministry of Interior in charge of security, said details will be given at a news conference tomorrow.

Papagos described the action as a service to Greece and the free world.

He said the underground mechanism of saboteurs and spies was trained in "the military and political academy of Moscow."

The Red network had at its disposal "fantastic amounts of money," Papagos said.

It trained agents, particularly in espionage and conspiracy, and prepared them for missions in Greece in military and political schools in Soviet Russia and her satellites, he added.

Papagos said the head of the underground network, Maj. Gen. Harilaos Florakis, alias Capetan Yiotis, was taken in the roundup.

He described Florakis as a telegraph operator who was trained in Moscow after the Communists were defeated in the Greek guerrilla war.

Papagos said confessions were obtained and records seized showing the names of those who helped to finance the Communist organization in Greece.

A large number of Communists who had been freed from jails under various amnesties issued by the government and allegedly repentant Reds were utilized by the network.

Those members will be given severe punishment, Papagos said.

Explains Statements Made On TV

Sen. Watkins Says His Committee Is Unbiased Toward Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) attested today to the impartiality of the special Senate committee weighing censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). He called it "as fair a group as you can find in the Senate."

Watkins heads the six-man committee, which is in recess until Tuesday.

"I don't find any prejudice in the committee against Sen. McCarthy," the senator told a news conference. He said McCarthy himself hasn't challenged any member and asked: "So what's all the fuss about?"

While McCarthy hasn't challenged any of the senators considering the charges against him, he has raised questions about the impartiality of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), vice chairman of the committee, and about the attitude of Watkins, too.

The Wisconsin senator asserted yesterday that Watkins had made a "fantastic statement" in a televised interview to the effect that "it was unimportant if some members of the committee were prejudiced."

A transcript of the Watkins interview showed that he had been asked whether impartiality was a requirement of the committee.

"No," the senator replied. "The senators who are committee members are the same senators who are in the Senate and no one has ever required that senators be impartial. They don't come here that way. They come here ordinarily having been committed to programs, having made their own platform pledges, and on many of the public questions they, of course, are committed, they have taken positive stands."

Today Watkins said he thought he and the TV interviewer were not talking about the same things.

"I thought we were talking about the Senate in general," he explained, adding that what he had in mind was that impartiality could not be required in the Senate.

The actual "jury" in the case, Watkins went on, is the whole Senate, which will pass finally on the committee's report and the 46 overlapping charges against McCarthy.

Only the Senate is the judge of its members, Watkins said, and it would take a constitutional amendment to change that.

He told the reporters the committee members do not consider themselves as "prosecutors" but rather as fact-finders.

The intelligence of some unusual dogs is really wonderful. We can not help but cite a single case. A family out the college way, was on a visit for many days and the family dog was loaned out as a boarder to a family living in the Cole addition.

In this particular family, a man has the habit of catching a town-bound bus on Cole or McGuire avenues at 6:30 a. m. each day. A member of the worker's family has the unusual habit of driving the car several blocks to get the worker in question off on his bus.

While the dog was a visitor in the family, he always pawed the earth and barked to get into the car and ride the several blocks to the bus. He would frisk around on the back seat and bark at every ordinary (?) dog that he saw en route.

When the owners of the dog returned, he was taken home but the next two mornings he missed his little trip to the bus. What did he do, but dog trot to his late home and whine at the door at the exact time that the trip was to be made busward. He was rewarded by being allowed to ride in the back seat and see that the operation was put through to success. Then he went back home again. This is surely a dog that has a full degree of intelligence.

TVA And AEC Reach Accord On Power Contract

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atomic Energy Commission announced today they are getting together on the plan to supply private power to the Memphis, Tenn., area.

Two days ago TVA was reported to be resisting the administration's proposal to give the Dixon-Yates combine a contract to furnish electricity in the Tennessee Valley territory, long a stronghold of public power.

Harry A. Curtis, TVA vice chairman, had protested that the AEC had not disclosed details of the controversial contract to the TVA. The latter agency was said to be reluctant to enter into negotiations without complete data.

A joint statement by Chairman Herbert D. Vogel of TVA and Gen. Mgr. K. D. Nichols of AEC said a copy of the Dixon-Yates contract was made available to the TVA staff on Wednesday, the day the reports of TVA's resistance were published.

Without mentioning these reports, the joint statement added:

"There are obviously many technical details to be resolved before final agreement between TVA and AEC can be consummated, but a meeting of the minds has been achieved on all fundamental issues and the TVA will proceed in good faith and as expeditiously as possible to prepare the necessary data, and it is expected that the technical staffs of both organizations will get together for discussions within the next 10 days."

The Dixon-Yates contract was the subject of a bitter Senate debate before passage of the atomic energy bill, which specifically authorizes AEC to contract for private power for the Memphis area.

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, has charged that "corruption" and favoritism toward big business were involved in the Dixon-Yates contract. He was invited to testify before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and he accepted but the date for his appearance has been postponed indefinitely.

The plan is that Dixon-Yates will build a 107-million-dollar steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply 600,000 kilowatts of power to the Memphis area. The power will be carried over TVA lines.

Armistice Group Condemns Israel For Border Raid

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Sept. 3 (AP) — The Jordan-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission charged today that a battalion of Israeli soldiers raided Jordan territory Wednesday night near Latrun. The commission condemned Israel for what it called "a most flagrant violation of the general armistice agreement."

Jordanian delegates to the commission and the U.N. chairman reached the decision. Israel has boycotted the commission for months, contending it is biased.

The commission resolution said three Arab legionnaires were killed in the clash. Four legionnaires and a 71-year-old woman were wounded and three other legionnaires were captured.

The resolution also said three other legionnaires were wounded, one seriously, in another Arab-Jewish battle at Wadi el Malaki.

There was no official Israeli comment. Israeli circles said, however, that the incidents closely followed a clash at Ramat Taziel Sunday, when Israel reported one Jewish watchman was killed and a second wounded by "attackers coming from Jordan."

NAACP Sponsors Move In Fight To End Segregation

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 3 (AP) — A Louisiana senator and segregation leader blasted the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today after 39 Negro children attempted unsuccessfully to enroll at a white elementary school here.

"The NAACP," Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield told the Associated Press, "is plunging the South into racial hatred when unity is vital to the future of our whole country."

The 39 children, accompanied by nine parents and a Negro attorney, sought admission to the 250-desk Gilmer Wright School in North Baton Rouge during morning hours.

They were turned down by Mrs. Lily C. Taylor, new principal, who explained registration was over for the day and that she was not authorized to admit Negroes.

Attorney Alex Pitcher of Baton Rouge, spokesman for the group, said the move was sponsored by the NAACP, but was vauge whether legal steps would follow the rejection.

In a statement, acting Supt. A.T. Browne of East Baton Rouge Parish schools, upheld Mrs. Taylor's action, pointing out the school board "understands it is the law of the state of Louisiana that certain schools shall be designated as schools for white students and others as schools for Negro students."

The policy will be maintained, Browne stressed, "until such time as the state law is modified or changed to the contrary."

Louisiana's program to sidestep the U.S. Supreme Court decision on school segregation was drafted at the recent session of the state

Gen. DeCastries Freed By Captors After 4 Months

HANOI, Saturday, Sept. 4—UP— Brig. Gen. Christian DeCastries, the hero of Dien Bien Phu, was freed by the Communists Saturday after almost four months in a Red prison camp.

DeCastries was captured in his command post at Dien Bien Phu May 7 when overwhelming Red forces finally overwhelmed the bastion that had held out for three months with a loss of almost 20,000 men.

He was last seen still wearing the red overseas cap he never doffed for a steel helmet, being driven away in a Communist jeep. He was reported to have been interned in half a dozen prison camps all over northern Indo-China.

A Communist brass band assembled and a chorus of peasant women gathered to chant "peace" hymns as the famed general was freed.

The general was provided with a French field uniform brought from Hanoi to replace his green Viet-Minh Communist prison garb.

After a medical check - up in Hanoi and a brief rest at a specially - requisitioned villa, DeCastries was scheduled to fly to Saigon in southern Indo-China.

From Saigon, he will go home to France to see his wife. He last talked to her by radio telephone the day before Dien Bien Phu fell.

The release of DeCastries was announced by the French high command. It said he was freed from his prison shortly before the Indo - Chinese POW exchange deadline expired.

The Communists had first promised his release for Thursday but it was delayed without explanation until Saturday.

Only Friday, French officers had sent a special team to Viet Ri to greet the French hero and escort him back to Hanoi, but they had to return empty-handed.

U. S. Air Force Readying 5,000-Mile Ocean Course; To Fire Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 —UP— The Air Force is laying out a 5,000-mile firing range in the South Atlantic for tests on new, long-range guided missiles, it was learned Friday.

This vast extension of the Cocoa, Fla., range is viewed as the first positive indication the United States is making progress toward development of an inter-continental pilotless weapon.

Diplomatic sources reported the United States is negotiating with Great Britain to establish a missile observation station on remote Ascension Island in the southern Atlantic.

The island, site of a U.S. air ferry field between South America and Africa in World War II, is 5,000 miles from the Air Force missile launching site at Camp Carnaveral, Cocoa.

A missile that could span this range also could reach into the heartland of Russia from advanced U.S. bases. It would revolutionize warfare, but perfection of the "push-button" device is still a long way off.

Probably the first missile to be fired down the 5,000-mile range will be the B-62 Snark, being de-

Cpl. Batchelor Says Officers Led Him Astray

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 3 —UP— Cpl. Claude Batchelor charged in a statement made public late Friday that American commissioned officers — fellow prisoners of war in North Korea — led him down the road to "progressivism."

Two of three statements Batchelor gave to Army intelligence officers in Tokyo, where he recuperated following his self-delayed repatriation from prison camp last New Year Eve, were read Friday into the record of the Kermit, Tex., soldier's court martial.

Batchelor, one of two American soldiers who first refused repatriation and then changed his mind, is charged with collaborating with the enemy.

He sat pale and shaken as the statements were read Friday. They were entered into the record over vigorous objections of Batchelor's civilian attorney, Joel Westbrook. A fourth statement also was enter-

General Stresses Value Of Nuclear Weapons To U. S.

DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 3 (AP)—A top-ranking Air Force officer took the position tonight that the United States must reply with atomic bombs to any sudden attack, without waiting to see what weapons the enemy has chosen.

Gen. Thomas D. White, vice chief of staff for the USAF, in an address prepared for a meeting of the Aircraft Industries Assn., said talk that the United States might not dare use its atomic weapons comforts would-be aggressors.

He said:

"Unintentionally weakening the strength of our position are some well-meaning persons who, appalled at the power of modern weapons and worried lest they be used against us, have supported the idea that we not use them in case of war.

"I can not agree with those who propose that we voluntarily give up our most powerful weapons, without reliable guarantees that aggressor nations will do the same.

"To be the first and only nation to disarm would be to invite attack and probably defeat of our forces and our allies by overwhelmingly superior air and ground forces of aggression which are arrayed against us."

Then White asserted:

"Furthermore, we can not afford to gamble that an unprincipled aggressor would deny himself the tremendous advantage of nuclear weapons. He already has been given the advantage of striking first.

"By no means could we wait to see what kind of bomb he has dropped on us before we load our airplanes to go hit him."

White said that, "Nuclear warfare would be horrible, yet if we seem to falter in our determination to use atomic bombs against aggressors we may be unwittingly inviting attack."

Dulles Confers With Filipinos On Asian Treaty

MANILA, Sept. 3—UP— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Friday on his arrival for the Southeast Asia security conference that he was confident 'we shall find a way to contribute to the freedom and independence of others."

The conference opens Monday. Before then Dulles will discuss with Philippine officials how best to implement the mutual defense treaty between the United States and the Philippines.

Dulles found the advance delegations to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting split into European and Asian factions. The Asians want a strong military agreement for quick action in case of Communist aggression. The other group favors prompt consultation instead of action.

Dulles was accorded full military honors upon his arrival, weary after his long flight from the United States. A military band played and a 19 - gun salute boomed.

Ranking American and Philippine officials greeted him. Among them were U. S. Ambassador Raymond A. Spruance, the wife of Vice President Carlos Garcia, Gen and Mrs. Carlos Romulo and others.

"Tomorrow leaders of your government will discuss with representatives of the United States how we can strengthen our mutual defense efforts. I am confident that through frank discussion and mutual understanding we shall find ways to advance further Philippine security," Dulles said.

"Next Monday Manila will become the site of one of the most important international conferences of our time. The representatives of eight free nations will meet here to discuss how to protect Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific from aggression."

Vice-Consul In Australian Post Until Recently

Vivacious Widow Accused Of Giving Secrets To Reds

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 3 (AP) — France's former vice consul in Australia, a vivacious 45-year-old widow who worked for the French resistance in World War II, has been arrested on charges of aiding the one-time Soviet agent Vladimir Petrov.

French Ambassador Louis Roche, disclosing the arrest, said Mrs. Rose-Marie Ollier gave vital information on Australian arms shipments to Indochina to Petrov while he was head of a Soviet espionage ring in this country.

Roche said Mrs. Ollier was suspended from her job in May and sent to Noumea, on New Caledonia a French Island 900 miles east of Australia, where one of her two sons attends college. She was visiting him when French authorities took her into custody 12 days ago.

Mrs. Ollier, described as a short, political science graduate who began working for the French government in Syria in 1934. She is currently held at Noumea to be returned to France by ship.

Petrov is the former third secretary of the Soviet Embassy who obtained asylum in Australia last spring with an offer to disclose the Soviet spy network in that country. A transcript of his testimony at the Royal Espionage Commission secret hearing on Mrs. Ollier's case, held in Melbourne July 20, was released today.

Petrov declared Mrs. Ollier told him of Australian shipments to French authorities in Indochina at seven or eight meetings, the last on March 8 this year. He said her code name in Soviet dispatches was "Olga" and that he had passed on her information to Moscow.

Both Petrov and his wife told the commission that Mrs Ollier had been given a wrist watch worth $78.75 bought from Soviet MVD funds.

Petrov said he was introduced to Mrs. Ollier in 1952 by former Tass Representative Pakhamov and later made contact with her when she returned from a vacation

Nationalist-Held Quemoy Is Shelled By Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—UP— The Chinese Communists Thursday bombarded the Nationalist - held islands of Quemoy and Little Quemoy a few miles off the Chinese mainland, defense officials said Friday.

Reports received here said the barrage consisted of artillery and mortar fire. The Reds apparently were firing from neighboring Communist-held islands rather than from the mainland itself.

Defense officials said the firing was "nothing to get excited about." They described it as "probably a salute to the Southeast Asian conference" opening in Manila next week.

Ever since Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist forces were forced off the mainland in 1949 there have been raids and artillery duels involving the Nationalist outpost on Quemoy. It is an island about 70 miles square, lying about

Confusion Cleared

No Declaration On N. E. Drouth Area Issued Yet

The Associated Press, at the request of the Monroe Morning World, last night contacted President Eisenhower in Denver to determine whether the 14 parishes of the Fifth Congressional district of Louisiana had been declared a disaster area. The President said they had not.

Reports circulated in the area said the declaration had been made. Much confusion has existed in agricultural agencies, it is reported, because of conflicting reports on the matter.

Congressman Otto E. Passman stated yesterday at Monroe that he is making every effort possible to secure an immediate drouth disaster area declaration for the area, however. In commenting, Passman said. "The President should use the authority given him by Congress to mitigate the distress now being experienced by farmers in this area who are suffering from the severe and prolonged drouth. Livestock and emergency production loans will be the salvation of our farmers, and help is needed now."

Passman further stated, "I strongly feel that some of the tens of millions of dollars in surplus food commodities now being shipped abroad, such as butter, cheese, etc., should be diverted to disaster areas to relieve human hunger, suffering and hardship."

Passman pointed out that the disaster loan program, which will become effective immediately upon the designation of this area as a drouth disaster area, provides for production emergency loans to meet expenses necessary for production of feed, seed, fertilizer, replacement of livestock and equipment; for other essential farm and home operating expenses; and for replacement or repair of buildings and fences in individual farms which were destroyed by the disaster. Loans may not be made to pay existing debts, to expand operations or to compensate applicants for their losses.

Farmers may also purchase hay at reduced transportation costs, and to obtain surplus feed grains at a reduced cost of 60 cents per hundredweight below the local price. Applications for participation in the programs may be obtained from the various county F. H. A. committees or county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee offices, after the disaster area designation has been approved.

Pasaman emphasized that special livestock loans are available to farmers and ranchers who need credit to continue their cattle, sheep or goat operations, and that this type loan is available without regard to drouth disaster designations. Applications for special livestock loans may be filed at county F. H. A. offices.

Passman has sent urgent telegrams to the President and to the director of Agricultural Credit Services, asking immediate drouth disaster designation for the 14-parish area.

Some people wonder what retired teachers do when they have time on their hands. We believe it was MacArthur who said that retired army officers never died but just faded away, and that is what some people believe about retired school teachers. One of these who recently retired is James W. Hammett. Mr. Hammett living at 409 Hilton street, who retired last May after a number of years service at Neville High School, states that he can keep plenty busy. He is now more concerned with the raising of camellias than in such matters as advanced algebra and solid geometry.

"I've got fully 1,000 plants that I set out last season and I have to keep 'em alive these days of burning heat," he declared. He admitted that time never hangs heavily on his hands.

The October meeting is set for Bolton High School in Alexandria, October 15.

in France the next year. He arranged to meet her on Dec. 24, 1953, in Cooma, about 250 miles from Sydney.

The Cooma meeting, Petrov testified, was very important because it was there she had agreed to bring a list of arms and weapons which Australia promised to send to Indochina. At the last meeting, on March 8, Petrov stated she told him the name of the arms ship — the Radnor.

Moscow asked him to get the French Embassy ciphers from Mrs. Ollier, but he never asked her, Petrov added. He quoted the Tass man as saying Mrs. Ollier "willingly agreed to assist" when the MGB and Information Committee (former branches of the Russian espionge service) were merged into one.

In a statement released through the Royal Espionage Commission, Ambassador Roche said Australian authorities had sent word Mrs. Ollier was implicated in the Petrov case as early as May 11. But the French government refrained from taking action until the commission had been able to perform its own investigations and hear sworn evidence from Mr. and Mrs. Petrov on Mme. Ollier's activities."

"This condition having been fulfilled," he declared, "the French government now carried out its intention to prosecute Mme. Ollier for a breach of the external security of the French state, and for nondisclosure of breaches jeopardizing the external security of the French state."

Born Rose-Marie Zoe Emma Marthe Pietri, Mrs. Ollier was married to a French diplomat who died many years ago in the Middle East. After her husband's death she brought up and educated her sons, Francois and Philippe, who have been at school at Noumea and Paris since she came to Australia about six years ago.

In the fighting between Allied and Vichy forces during World War II, she joined the Free French government under Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The Sydney Morning Herald described her as a "typical Frenchwoman." Diplomats knew her as a nonpolitical social companion who never talked of world problems.

veloped by the Northrop Aircraft Co. It generally resembles the shorter-range Matador which the Air Force has placed in operational use.

The Snark, however, approximates a pilotless bomber, capable of flying in level flight for long distances. It is the forerunner of future missiles which can soar into the stratosphere, zoom across oceans and come crashing down on targets at speeds of thousands of miles an hour.

Missile experts agree it probably will be several years before a truly operational inter-continental missile will be developed. The program was the subject of a recent debate between Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), former Air Force secretary, and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee.

Symington contended the United States is not putting enough emphasis to the program to match Russia. Saltonstall argued that progress is being made and that no "crash" (speed-up) program is necessary.

If the Air Force ever wants to test missiles over a greater distance, the range could be extended over St. Helena, 700 miles southeast of Ascension, and finally down over the ice-bound wastelands of the Antarctic.

The testing center at Cocoa obviously was established with such a range in mind. From there, missiles can be fired in a southeasterly direction, in a course over the Bahamas, the Lord and Windward Islands of the Caribbean, and then into the vast spaces of the South Atlantic.

The measure drew the most applause in President Eisenhower's state-of-the-union message early this year.

Mr. Eisenhower issued a statement on his approval of the rivers and harbors bill citing what he felt were deficiencies in the measures.

The President said he objected particularly to the fact that some of the projects would have inadequate state and local participation.

"This," he said, "is very unfortunate, as is the fact that some flood control reservoirs will have no local participation as now authorized."

The President added, however, that most projects authorized by the act were basically sound.

The chief executive departs early Saturday on a whirlwind tour of upstate Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas.

North Carolina Democrats Name Senate Nominee

COLUMBIA, S.C., Sept. 3 (AP) — Edgar A. Brown, a state senator for 25 years and now South Carolina Democratic national committeeman, was nominated by the State Democratic Executive Committee today for a full six-year U.S. Senate term.

The nomination assures his election.

Brown, 66, a Barnwell lawyer, was nominated to succeed the late Sen. Burnet R. Maybank of Charleston, who died Wednesday. He will have no Republican opposition in the general election.

The committee's unanimous decision came only six hours before the deadline for the party to certify a candidate for listing on the Nov. 2 election ballot. The committee ruled out the possibility of holding a primary because of the time element.

Brown, long a power in the state Democratic party and a delegate to the Democratic national conventions of 1924 and 1952, is president pro tempore of the South Carolina Senate and chairman of its Finance Committee.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate in 1926 and 1938. He was in the state House of Representatives in 1921-26, serving as speaker the latter two years, and has been in the state Senate continuously since 1929.

Maybank, 55, died of a heart attack at his Flat Rock, N.C., summer home. Funeral services were held today in Charleston. He had been nominated without opposition for his second full term. He succeeded Jame.. F. Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, when Byrnes was appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court in 1941.

Mayor, Former Sheriff Indicted In Phenix City

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Sept. 3 (AP)— Mayor Elmer Reese and former Sheriff Ralph Mathews were indicted for wilful neglect of duty today by a vice-hunting grand jury which swung another death blow at racketeering in Phenix City.

Another indictment in a list of 14 returned by the grand jury in the second interim report in five days charged Mathews' former chief deputy, Albert Fuller, with accepting a bribe.

Names of the other 10 defendants involved in the 14 idictments —one person had two against him —were withheld until they were put under arrest or under bond.

Former Sheriff Mathews, who resigned under pressure 10 days ago, was permitted to get his own bond signed. Although technically under arrest, he was not taken immediately to jail. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

The veteran law enforcemet officer, who has been sheriff or Russell County for 12 years, was one of four county officials whose nominations in the May 4 Democratic primary were revoked by the State Democratic Executive Committee because of widespread voting irregularities in Phenix City.

The indictment against Mathews was announced by National Guard authorities who have taken over law enforcement duties in Phenix City and Russell County under limited martial law. There was no elaboration of the wilful neglect of duty charge.

50-50 Split In Locomotive Goods Going Overseas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—UP—Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen announced Friday he will award U. S. firms about half the contracts for a big railroad equipment order for India even though they were outbid by foreign manufacturers.

The decision, made under heavy pressure from American industry, will push the cost of the contracts to about $27 million some $7 million more than the original estimate.

The contracts involve 100 steam locomotives and some 5,000 freight cars to be supplied to India under the foreign aid program. Normally, the Foreign Operations Administration opens such work to world-wide bidding and takes the lowest offer.

In this case, U. S. railroad equipment manufacturers, whose business has been in a slump, protested the prospect of the contracts going overseas.

Stassen told a news conference his decision was based mainly on the distress conditions in the U. S. industry.

Stassen said he believes the locomotive contracts will be divided between the low bidder, a Japanese firm, and the only U. S. firm competing, the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp., Philadelphia.

WINNSBORO, Sept. 3 (Special) —Alfred Sherman Hawthorne, four-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hawthorne, died at his residence at chase Friday evening.

It is reported that the child was taken to a Winnsboro clinic, but was pronounced dead on arrival. The attending physician said death resulted from natural causes.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at the United Pentecostal Church, at Lone Cedar, near Winnsboro. Burial, under direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home of Winnsboro, will be in the old Winnsboro cemetery.

Besides the parents, the child is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawthorne, Baskin, and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Feath, Chase.

Cpl. Batchelor

ed into the record but will not be made public on ground it contains classified information.

In an 11-page statement that was made public, Batchelor also outlined in detail the plans formulated by the Chinese Communists and by "progressive" prisoners-of-war for formation of an organization in the United States, on the prisoners' return, with a vowed purpose of looking after the welfare of former POWs — but with actual intent of serving "as a contact for Communist activities in the U.S."

In the same statement, Batchelor said "I think the reason why so many prisoners wanted peace was the fact that few American boys really understood why we were fighting in Korea. . .no one in Korea seemed to realize what was behind his action in Korea. The Chinese started telling us about 'peace, peace, peace.' I felt like most of the men, that it was not a crime to fight for peace and talk about peace.

"It was in the spring of 1951 that a small group of officers at Camp 5 (where Batchelor was held) went about to enlisted men and told us that it was their desire to have committees to fight for peace."

The statement said the officers were fellow POWs. "These requests were made in the presence of Chinese officers," the statement said.

Batchelor said in the statement: "As I recall the officers who made these remarks were Lt. Ralph Nardello, Lt. Jeff Irwin and a Lt. Van Arman." Batchelor didn't recall the first name of the last officer named.

Batchelor named dozens of names and implicated an estimated 50 officers and enlisted men held prisoners in his camp and in others as members of peace committees, propaganda committees and others.

The former POW, Cpl. Harold M. Dunn of Fort Jay, N. J., said that after these visits to Chinese Communist headquarters, Batchelor always returned to "study group" meetings more strongly indoctrinated.

Batchelor, 23, is being tried before a court of eight Korean veteran officers on charges of collaborating with the enemy and informing on his fellow POWs. He returned to the American side last Jan. 1, after announcing that he had decided to stay with the Chinese as a "peace fighter."

Dunn, who had testified previously, was called back Friday by Lt. Col. Donald L. Manes Jr., law officer for the court. He was called back after the court, in closed session, had heard the testimony of a Negro captain of Army intelligence and another secret witness.

According to Dunn, about 100 "study group" meetings were held at the camp where he and Batchelor were confined. Batchelor, Dunn said, attended most of the 100 meetings and led "discussions" at a majority of those.

The purpose of the "study group" meetings was to study such current events as Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov's report to the Soviet Congress and the execution of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg by the United States as spies, Dunn said.

State Capital

Legislature by a 10-man committee headed by Sen. Rainach. The committee is still studying the problem.

The senator, upon hearing of the Baton Rouge case, scored the NAACP for "snatching the lead away from the Supreme Court" and not waiting until the court put its decision into effect with a formal decree.

Rainach saw similar enrollment cases in Dallas, Tex., and Montgomery, Ala., as a "definite pattern" and accused the NAACP of hurrying forward with legal maneuvers rather than "waiting for a logical solution to our racial problems."

"Is it not significant," the senator asked, "that white control has receded all over the world during the past 30 years while Communism advanced?

"It is high time we white people in Louisiana and in the entire nation reassert the leadership for which we are famed."

He reminded the NAACP that the recent Legislature decided Louisiana would continue school segregation by exercise of the "inherent police powers of the state to protect the peace and good order of its citizens," and warned it "is a violation of state law to mix white and Negro children in schools."

Rainach pointed to another act of the recent Legislature which holds that "no school child is entitled to enter a public school until he has been assigned to the particular school by the parish superintendent."

Voters will decide in November whether to incorporate the police power clause into the state constitution.

Rainach said his 10-man committee is "watching closely the acts of the NAACP and is awaiting the reaction of Louisiana to this outrageous move to destroy peaceful relations between the races."

It was the strongest statement issued by the chairman since the group was formed last June after a mansion conference with Gov. Robert Kennon and political and educational leaders.

The Gilmer Wright School, fronting on a street with several Negro houses, is located near the huge Esso Standard Oil refinery. The Negro applicants appeared at the school about 10 a.m., a few hours after Mrs. Taylor began her first day as principal.

She said the attorney described the move as a test case, but Pitcher said he had not intended to convey this impression although the phrase might have been used in the discussion.

Officials of the state NAACP committee in New Orleans said they did not know if similar action was planned in other white elementary schools but announced an attempt would be made to enroll Negroes at McNeese State College in Lake Charles.

Secretary Daniel Byrd of the state association said de-segregation petitions have been filed with 14 parish school boards and with the State Board of Education, which supervises eight state colleges and a number of trade schools.

Nationalist Held

15 miles east of the mainland city of Amoy.

Last week the Chinese Reds claimed a small Communist force landed on Quemoy and killed 10 Nationalist soldiers and captured one.

One of the most determined Communist bids to capture the island occurred in February, 1950. It failed and the Nationalists claimed they captured 7,800 Red attackers and killed as many more.

U.S. officials believe the Reds may step up their attacks on Quemoy to back up propaganda claims that they will "liberate" Formosa. They also believe the Communists want to find out if U.S. protection of Formosa will be extended to Quemoy.

Barn Fire Near Monroe Inflicts Heavy Damages

Tens of thousands of dollars invested in farm equipment and products, not covered by insurance, went up in smoke yesterday morning when fire ripped through a large barn on a farm at Corey, south of Monroe on Highway 165.

The blaze, which occurred on the Roland brothers' plantation, was spotted at 2 a.m. by nearby residents. Both the Columbia and Monroe fire departments were summoned. But firemen said the loss was complete when they arrived at the scene.

Lost in the fire were the building, two cars, two trailer trucks, two bob-trailer trucks, two cotton picking machines, one tractor, one irrigation truck and shop tools, one pickup truck, 16 bales of cotton and seed, and 150 feet of irrigation hose.

Winnie Reported Urgently Seeking EDC Substitute

By K. C. THALER

LONDON, Sept. 3—UP—Prime Minister Winston Churchill was reported Friday to have urged President Eisenhower to join him in an all-out push for a new European security setup as quickly as possible.

Diplomatic sources said Churchill made the appeal in a secret report to the President on the crisis boiling up since France killed the European Defense Community treaty.

Churchill was understood to have recommended bringing West Germany directly into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, with safeguards for control of rearmament.

The Anglo-American contact at the top level was reported among a series of far-flung developments, including:

1. Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said in Bonn that the defense crisis is causing growing disillusionment and isolationism in the United States.

2. Informed sources in London said Britain never could be a full fledged member of a European army setup with provisions superseding national sovereignty.

3. Three members of Premier Pierre Mendes-France's cabinet resigned as expected after the assembly defeat of the army plan Monday.

4. U.S Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon in Paris heard from Mendes-France that the premier planned to go to the United States about Sept. 25 to head the French delegation to the United Nations General Assembly — about the time the United States has proposed a NATO council meeting in New York to take up the defense crisis.

5. Authoritative sources in Rome said Italy favored the prompt admission of West German to NATO, and might be persuaded to help mediate between France and West Germany.

Sleeping Sickness With Symptoms Like Polio Is Raging On Texas Border

EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 3—UP—A mysterious disease which has struck down hundreds of persons in the Lower Rio Grande Valley was identified Friday as a form of sleeping sickness.

The symptoms of the disease—which has reached epidemic proportions — are so close to those of poliomyelitis that until two weeks ago all cases were marked off as polio.

Thirteen persons have died so far this year at Valley Baptist Hospital at Edinburg, only area institution with facilities to treat polio, compared with only three polio deaths in the Valley during all of 1953. Three persons died at the hospital this week.

Dr. Charles H. Miller, Hidalgo county health officer, still was uncertain Friday how many sick persons in the Valley were suffering from polio and how many have been stricken with sleeping sickness.

But the mystery disease Friday was definitely diagnosed by the Texas State Health Department as a form of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness.

Dr. Henry Holle, state health officer, said at Austin that "during the past few weeks from 400 to 600 cases of a disease whose clinical symptoms are of a type resembling encephalitis have been reported from his (Lower Rio Grande Valley) area. There are several types of virus encephalitis that require extensive and time-consuming lab tests for identification."

He counseled that there was no cause for "undue" alarm in the Valley, because the situation was under close observation and "no great extension of the area where cases are being found has occurred."

Sleeping sickness symptoms, Holle said, are similar to those of polio and include severe headache, fever of 102 degrees or more, a stiff neck and varying degrees of drowsiness or stupor.

Miller, the Hidalgo county health officer, said Friday's report from Austin was the only concrete thing he knew about the disease so far. He pointed out that laboratory work is underway at Austin.

Miller said he had investigated the possibility that braceros — or legal Mexican migrant laborers—brought encephalitis into the Valley.

But he said he found "absolutely no justification" for such a theory, because Mexican doctors told him there was no sleeping sickness in that nation.

The county health officer said laboratory studies will continue "in an effort to determine the causative virus" of the sleeping sickness.

He announced a large-scale mosquito control program would start in the Lower Valley next week. He urged all Valley residents to join in the anti-mosquito campaign, "to cut all high weeds" and to eradicate areas of standing water."

Many birds consume half their weight in food each day, and young birds often eat more than their total weight in a day.

Intimidation Of NAACP Charged In Mississippi

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 3 (AP) —Reports indicating that efforts have been started "to run the National Association for Advancement of Colored People out of Mississippi" have been received, an NAACP official said today.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP regional secretary here, charged that the attempt "was promised by the winner of the (U. S.) Senatorial nomination and several of the legislators" in the recent Democratic primary there.

Sen. James Eastland, a Delta planter, was renominated for another term last week. He defeated Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin of Laurel.

Mrs. Hurley said complaints of intimidation had been received from six counties scattered around Mississippi. "It is expected that the matter will be placed before the Department of Justice," she said.

"In one county," she asserted, "certain law enforcement officers together with a number of other persons walked in on one of our branch meetings and warned our people to leave registration and voting alone when they learned that was the purpose of the meeting.

"We have had numerous complaints about threatening telephone calls and visits by white persons to our branch officers in several sections if Mississippi.

The official said the U.S. Supreme Court decision affecting segregation in public schools and the increased interest among Negroes in registration and voting "are the underlying causes of the recent action against the NAACP."

Mrs.Hurley said in another statement that the NAACP is non-political, and does not endorse any candidate in the current Georgia primary race.

'Open Season' Declared On Northeast Drivers Who Shun Safety Rules

Unmarked, radio-equipped pickup trucks, unmarked autos, radar, and airplane spotters, and an alert, double-strength state police force which has declared "open season" on speeders and road law violators over the holiday week end will all aid in a drive to cut accident fatalities in Louisiana, Lt. James Daniels, acting head of Troop F. here, warned yesterday.

He coupled his warning with a reminder of the good record made over the July 4 holiday period.

Daniels said all measures possible will be taken to prevent any accidents on the roads, and especially "those accidents which might be prevented by close observance of the speed laws."

He pointed out that all members of the troop went on 12-hour shifts effective today and will continue to work that period until Tuesday. In addition, unmarked automobiles and pick-up trucks, equipped with shortwave radio, will work closely in spotting and apprehending speeders.

As was used for the first time earlier this year the airplane spotters and speed-o-meters will be on the highways. Working with the state police in the airplanes will be members of the Civil Air Patrol. These, too, will have two-way radios.

Lt. Daniels pointed out that the record for Troop F, which includes the northeastern parishes of the state, was excellent for the Fourth of July week end. "A record we here at headquarters believe can be repeated."

"While we are very proud of it, the real credit goes to the motorists who actually made this possible," he said.

A Black Day In Your History

August 28th, 1954 will be forever remembered as another black day in the history of your nation.

On that day, General Kirke Lawton of the United States Army, graduate of the United States Military Academy, veteran of 37 years service, reviewed his garrison for the last time.

He was removed ("separated") from the service due to "physical disability" although this is merely a nice way to drum a good soldier out of the service. General Lawton's only "mistake" in Army politics was to support two individuals: McCarthy and MacArthur. For this, the General has paid a heavy price as he was not only passed over for promotion although he had an excellent record, he was drummed out of the service because he supported his conscience and started to eliminate the Communists at Fort Monmouth, his post of duty.

On the other hand, other Generals who have bowed to the supreme command of General Marshall's clique are not only promoted, but retired with great honor. When will this sorry train come to a halt? When will loyal Americans who think only of promoting and saving their nation, winning wars for it and attempting to help it in time of need by eliminating its enemies be supported instead of being thrown out of the service, discredited and smeared?

The history of Army politics is a shameful one in recent years. Actually, it started with the Roosevelt administration which used its political power to order the Department of War to follow its own bidding. It was then that General Marshall "came to light" followed closely by Major Dwight Eisenhower.

No one is suggesting that these two men support for a minute the subversion inside the departments they once headed, but the facts are indicative that individuals beneath them were guilty of this act.

The worst part of the whole situation came during the Truman government when Anna Rosenberg was put in the Defense Department over extremely vigorous objections by many in high positions of government and some inside the intelligence services. Some say that Anna "loaded" the department with subversives. That would seem entirely possible in that the individual responsible for the promotion of Major (Communist) Peress was never uncovered even though that person's whereabouts must certainly be known in the Pentagon.

These aspects were responsible in large part for the fiasco in Korea which only now is coming forward in all its ghastly prospects.

Three responsible military leaders who were on the scene have described in great detail exactly how General MacArthur's hands were tied and how he was prevented from winning a victory. There is no doubt in the world that the State Department was greatly responsible but had there been outcries from the Pentagon, such things might not have happened and the way would not have been left open to Communist expansion in Indo-China and Southeast Asia.

Who is responsible for this idea which dictates that the United States is not to win wars, only to fight them defensively even though the opponent is attempting to wipe the U. S. off the face of the Earth as a free and independent nation?

The American people have a right to know who it is that protects these subversives in the government, demote loyal officers WHO ARE DOING THEIR DUTY AS THEY SWORE UNDER OATH TO GOD AND FLAG TO DO while other who "knuckle under," are promoted and given medals. What is the power or the force which dictates that American diplomats are supposed to crawl like pitiful sniveling curs to the Communist masters in hopes that "peace can be attained in our times?" Is the United States not possessed of enough intestinal fortitude to stand up to the International Marxist Conspiracy?

Apparently that conspiracy has reached positions of great heights in the Federal Government, heights unknown to the American people until some instrument of destruction is brought to light. What is this peculiar force which dictates that a vigorous prosecution of Communism (ne: Marxism) is not to be while on the other hand, those who are vigorous in this idea are themselves smeared for their effort?

When a Seminole Indian falls into the water with Crocodiles in the Florida Everglades, he does not pat these reptiles on the nose in an effort to live in "peaceful co-existence" he realizes that he is in a death grapple with a far more powerful and heavily armed force. So be it with the American people today. Unfortunately, the "Crocs" are winning the day, chewing to bits the American advantage in the world situation.

Until the American people realize that this is indeed a battle to the death with a terrible and merciless foe which demands by whatever hand that murder of one third of the American people, enslavement of another, and the "re-education" of a final third is promised, there can never be a united and solid front against the conspiracy. Nor can there ever be a cessation of this firing of patriotic American.

Plans and ideas which include the destruction of the Reserve program, the National Guard and other aspects will continue to be prodded with more vigor.

CHENNAULT WAS THE FIRST, MACARTHUR, WEDEMEYER, VAN FLEET, NOW LAWTON—WHO ELSE? WHO WILL BE THE NEXT? THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE ENTITLED TO KNOW THE WHOLE SITUATION. THE LOSS OF GENERAL LAWTON IS A SERIOUS THING. IT IS ANOTHER BLACK DAY IN THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.

BLACKER DAYS ARE APPARENTLY YET TO COME.

The Hiss Pension

This would seem to be as good a time as any to push action in Congress on legislation to bar Alger Hiss from receiving a fat pension from the taxpayers of the United States. Several attempts of this sort have been announced by individual Congressmen, but nothing has come of them.

Under the law, Hiss, when he reaches retirement age, will be able to live the life of Riley on a check from the Treasury at Washington because of his years spent on the government payroll. Do the American taxpayers think he is entitled to this?

George Sokolsky

THESE DAYS

What Would Happen?

Dr. Isador Lubin, long a government economist, and Forrest D. Murden, jr., also an economist, have prepared a pamphlet, "Our Stake in World Trade," in which the excellent point is made that whereas we only have six percent of the world's population, we produce about 40 percent of the world's output. Having said that, they proceed to tell us how dependent we are on the rest of the world:

"Have you ever imagined what it would be like if we were to be shut off from the products of other lands? Do you know what would happen to our standard of living if we tried to manage solely with what we could produce within our own borders? Among other things, our larders would be without coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas. Sugar, pineapples and many other foods would be selling at prices far above their present levels.

"Television and radio, if we had them at all, would be luxuries beyond the means of most Americans . . ."

I don't know how dependent we really are upon coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas or what would become of us if we had to do without them. One could drink milk and solve a basic farm problem. As for cocoa and bananas, if the women take Dior's strictures on milady's pulchritude seriously, no woman will touch the stuff for fear that the waistline might not fit the dress.

When learned economists try to become popularizers, they are usually out of their field. Even a columnist would do better than base the economic policy of a country on the consumption of cocoa and bananas, or even pineapples, although I thought we can get our pineapples from our own country, namely, Hawaii, which still hopes to become a state. A little further on, these economists say:

". . . There would be a shortage of newsprint for publishing our newspapers and magazines."

There they say something serious. Canada sure has us by the heel on newsprint, for which they charge unconscionably and get away with it because the United States was careless about its forests and has let its paper factories go north. I live, during the summer, within 17 miles of Lee, Massachusetts, where the first wood-pulp factory in the United States was erected. Some of those mills are still there but they make cigarette and other fine papers. But I see that British capital is going into our Southern states to manufacture newsprint and may the day come when we make our own altogether and are not dependent on the Canadian cartel. The Canadians could then sell their newsprint to the British at whatever price they could get.

Now if these economists talked about really important commodities, we might have something to worry about. Take, for instance, cobalt. In 1953, 9,182,000 pounds of cobalt were consumed but only 1,253,000 pounds were produced in the United States. Africa supplied about 84 percent of the world production of 10,100,000 pounds in 1952. According to the report of the Malone committee, the largest potential reserves are in Cuba; there are large deposits in the United States but they have not been adequately developed.

To the United States, facing the dangers of war and the rise of cancer, cobalt is more important than cocoa or bananas and in the event of a war, it is doubtful that the ocean-lanes will be open so that sufficient cobalt can be brought from Africa. This is a really serious problem. According to the Malone committee, the Western hemisphere, using Canadian, American and Cuban deposits could become self-sufficient.

Or take iodine which is essential for medical and metallurgical uses. The United States, which uses from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 pounds annually, receives about half its supply from abroad, probably mostly from Chile. So far as the United States is concerned, it could be in a satisfactory condition as to iodine, as we have a large supply.

Lithium has become important because of the hydrogen bomb. Surely that means more to us than a pineapple. We get plenty of lithium in South Dakota, North Carolina and California and presumably other places in the United States.

My point is that if these economists want to frighten us, they might deal with products that really matter, not coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas. What do they take us for?

The most closely-guarded business secret of the year is Bill Zeckendorf's bid of $450,000,000 to Howard Hughes for all his properties, including TWA airlines, Hughes' Tool Co. and RKO pictures. (Deal is on behalf of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who also commissioned the Webb & Knapp genius to assemble the original UN East River site some years ago. Hughes' intimates say he's "considering.")

Today's Barbara Warner Item (Or did I print it, and if not, why why not): He's Ralph Mecker, the lucky so-and-so.

A Gruesome Business: You will learn here that the mob is (and for some time has been) attempting to take over the undertakers. In some towns and communities the gangsters have had considerable success, especially in those with large foreign born populations. Many top Mafistas give their legal occupations as "mortician," which is a word they can't spell let alone pronounce. Of course, the vast majority of morticians are not gangsters.

How It Work: Colmas provide an excellent hiding place for hot money. It can be buried, or hidden in crypts. One wartime blackeleer, president of a huge and respected corporation, salted $10,000,000 in the family vault, is now afraid to use it. Narcotics and other contraband such as stolen jewels are easily transported from city to city and even into the country, in caskets carrying legitimate bodies. Meanhile, but merely as a minor inducement, it gives the boys an easy out for disposing of embarrassing stiffs which are often buried in the same coffins with the respectable dead on their death certificates.

Dirty Politics, Jersey Style: The feud between Frank (I am the law) Hague and John (The giant-killer) Kenny, who ran Hague out of Jersey City, is still at white heat. Kenny's enemies can't take it either. Coupla months ago they left an infant on what they thought was former Mayor Kenny's doorstoop (and were prepared to imply he was its father) but the lousy plot miscarried when the stooges dropped the baby next door by mistake. The coppers know who did it and when the story breaks there'll be plenty of fireworks, I promise.

The Town There's No Town Like: That 200 pound Great Dane that eats double steaks and corsages of gardenias yet in the local cafes is owned by a guy named Copeland. Said to spend $1,500 a week in the deadfalls. Some fun, hey kid. . . . For babes who suddenly want their hair dyed at 3 a.m. (to please a finicky boy friend maybe) there's a round-the-clock salon in the Gt. Northern Hotel. The nation's only 24 hour beauty parlor, they tell me. Run by Larry Matthews who's tossing a $7,500 cocktail party there on the 12th. . . . That distinguished looking captain in the Copa Lounge ought to look distinguished. He's Arthur Goodman who has been playing distinguished character parts on radio and TV for 25 years—currently doubling from the saloon to Kraft Theatre.

No gag: Women are as transparent as cellophane and as hard to remove once you get wrapped up in them—From the sayings of Joey Socrates Adams.

Pardon My Perfume: Ray Austrian, the men's wear Dior, predicts a masculine reaction to the femme's flat, boyish lines, with a male "Continental Look," of lavish embroidery and feminine touches on our clothes. (Molly, where's my bustle?)

To Go, Or Not To Go

Letters are coming to me from boys recently graduated from high school. Should they go to college when there is every possibility of their being called to one of the armed services.

One boy wrote: "What's the use of going to college if a fellow is going out to be shot, or if he isn't shot, crippled, or sent back to a mental hospital?"

That is a bad way to look at the future. All boys do not go to war. All soldiers are not killed. Nor are all of them crippled or sent to the mental hospitals. Many of them, most of them, come back in good shape, go to college, finish their courses and take up active life as civilians.

To enter any experience with the thought of disaster is to court it. Far better to feel as another boy did: "Sure I'll be back and go on with my education. My father did. I will too." A positive hopeful outlook is a powerful force on the side of success.

Any time spent in study will pay dividends in future. No such experience is ever wasted, no knowledge was ever found to be a handicap. Study, learning, in any field, awakens intelligence and intelligence is the light of life. It is the MIND that carries one through trouble and over difficulty. College education can be a mighty part of a soldier's equipment. A book in the pack is essential gear. A small paper backed edition is light to carry but the weight of spiritual strength, courage and entertainment it carries is beyond measure.

Any boy or girl who can go to college should do so. There is no place in life where knowledge, understanding, a special skill, are not wanted and needed. Even if a student cannot complete his courses, the time spent in study will add power to his mind and so enrich his life. I vote for college education for every boy and girl who can pass the entrance examinations.

More and more, as our time becomes more complicated, our tools are intricate, the machines speedier, the trained mind and hand are essential to the job. A high school diploma is the minimum requirement, a degree standard for the work of today and tomorrow.

Boys and girls, go to college if you are able. Stay as long as you can in the hope of being graduated with a degree that entitles you to a place in the wonderful days that are dawning.

IN WASHINGTON

GOP Troubles

The business men drawn to Washington by the Eisenhower magnet have been dropping away like iron chips do when the magnet is turned off, but it isn't entirely the President's fault. Some of them were not up to their jobs, others have found that you can't buck the capital's social tide on a government salary.

What strikes veteran observers here that the same old story has been repeated. In Republican administrations, the government always calls on business men. In Democratic admistrations, it usually seeks younger men who will dedicate themselves to government service.

It would be hard to imagine two elements more difficult of amalgamation than business and government. Some blame attaches to both. To imagine a government run entirely by business men, without the aid of career folk in government, is amusing. But an army of bureaucrats would mean a government Gulliver bound in red tape by Lilliputians.

The idea of younger career men directing important government functions received its worst blow when the New Deal unwittingly opened the door to a number supposedly of that type who turned out to have Communist connections. Hundreds of young men who came to town in that era are still here, doing excellent jobs on modest salaries.

The theory of business men in government has one major weakness. It has been demonstrated many times that the man who comes here hoping to accomplish sweeping changes, then return to his business, is like a novice in the jungle. He usually finds he cannot accomplish what he expected to in the time he can give. So he must either give up his business career—important jobs can't be left open indefinitely—in which event he may become just another bureaucrat, or go back to business at the end of a year or so, having left no perceptible mark on the records of government progress. Meanwhile he has worked long hours probably at a considerable financial sacrifice. Many such recruits have to dig deep into their own pockets to fulfill their social obligations.

The Eisenhower administration has been less successful than previous Republican eras in holding on to the type of men it has inducted into government—an estimated 800, of whom less than half have been of the type envisioned by the President in his pledge to get good men into government and keep them there. The apparent reason is that with important executive jobs outside government paying salaries several times as large as those in government, many who answered the call feel they must get out and make some money. They have found policy making jobs here more strenuous than highup executive posts in well organized businesses.

The list is too long to enumerate here. But one of the less satisfactory examples who has proved a problem is Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens. Rich enough not to have to worry about expenses and confused enough to think he has to stay on the job to defy Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.-Wis.), Stevens is now looked upon in Republican circles as an embarrassment to the administration.

Ultra - conservative Republicans still moan that the President made an error in firing Clarence T. Manion, former dean of Notre Dame University law school, as chairman of the Commission to study state-federal relations. If that was an error, so apparently was Manion's appointment in the first place, for he is a man of fixed opinions, who didn't bother much about the study part of his job.

An example of the hard driving type who was determined to complete his assignment and get out was Undersecretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes who was devoted to only one man, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, his boss and former chief at General Motors. Kyes resigned at the end of a year, but by that time he had stamped the entire Defense Department with his branch of efficiency.

Some who were picked just because they had good business records, like Stevens, found in Congress a brick wall in which they couldn't make a dent, something the like of which exists in very few businesses. It takes a man used to contending with a hard boiled board of directors to succeed in that never ending contest, for Congress wants to cut costs without eliminating any function of government. Every bureau and agency has its important protector on Capitol Hill.

Congressional Quarterly

What Are The Different Ways A Bill Can Be Vetoed?

Q—Is Congress all through for this year?

A — While the Senate has finished its regular business and most of its members have gone home, the upper chamber may still be called back by the floor leaders of the two major parties any time before Christmas. It will not finally adjourn until after it has heard from a special committee investigating charges of improper conduct leveled against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R Wis.). The House of Representatives, on the other hand, has adjourned permanently for the second session. Of course, the president can always call either or both houses into session, if an emergency should arise.

Q — When the Senators come back to consider those charges against McCarthy, who pays their travel expenses?

A—The money for the additional mileage will come from a special fund of the Senate, not out of the Senators' pockets. A law passed in 1866 allows every member 20 cents per mile for traveling to and from each regular session, but the Senate Aug. 20 passed a resolution authorizing additional travel pay to the forthcoming meeting.

Q — I hear the president vetoed the government workers' pay raise. What are the different ways a bill can be vetoed?

A—The president can refuse to sign a bill and send it back to Congress along with his reasons for rejecting it. Or, he can "pocket veto" a measure by simply not signing it within 10 days after he receives it, if Congress has adjourned in the meantime. Congressional specialists are not in agreement on whether Congress has adjourned finally in the true sense, since the Senate can still perform certain legislative functions when it is called back into session by the two party leaders. But the president's statement of Aug. 23 that he would not sign the pay bill has been looked on as a pocket veto, since the House has definitely adjourned and could not vote to override the veto.

Q — How many Constitutional changes were proposed in the recent Congress?

A—Members offered 153 amendments to the Constitution during the 1953-54 sessions. Only six reached floor tests — but this was the highest total for recent Congresses. All the votes took place in the Senate, which approved four and rejected two proposed amendments. The House did not act on any of them. Most controversial of the six measures was the so-called Bricker amendment to limit the president's treaty-making powers — a substitute for it fell one vote short of the two-thirds majority needed to send it on to the House.

Q—Was there as much turnover in this Congress as ther's been in earlier ones?

A — Fourteen Senators and Representatives and one delegate died since the 83rd Congress as elected — just about the average for both houses during each of the past five Congresses. There are only five resignations, however—only half as many as usual.

Q—I've heard that lots of people vote according to their pocketbooks. And with elections coming up, are times getting better or worse?

A — The economic indicators are clouded at present. Recent figures show an improvement over 1953 in personal income recipts, demand deposits in banks, and new construction. These are offset by lower figures for 1954 in wages and salaries, total production, employment, and farm income. On the other hand there's been some improvement since the beginning of the year in such indicators as manufacturing and trade inventories.

Q — What did the big tax law passed by Congress do?

A — It lowered taxation of dividend income, and postponed a scheduled tax cut for corporations for one year. It increased allowable deductions for medical expenses, permitted deduction of some child-care costs, eased the tax load on retirement income, and authorized faster depreciation write - offs. Administration forces beat down efforts to increase personal exemptions.

Czech Kidnapped

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Radio Free Europe said today there was little doubt that one of its top Czechoslovak employes had been kidnaped by the Russians.

Russel Hill, RFE manager in Vienna, said that Stefan Kiripolsky, 39, and his wife, Helena, 20, had failed to return from a vacation which took the couple through Austria's Russian zone Aug. 21.

Security Acts Shifts Explained

The sweeping new amendments to the social security act, signed into law on September 1, 1954, by President Eisenhower, will affect virtually every family in the Monroe area, according to J. Dodd Brooks, district manager of the social security administration.

"The protection of old-age and survivors insurance is now extended to nine out of 10 families in the community," Brooks said, "and the benefit payments, not only to future beneficiaries but also to those now on the rolls, have been substantially increased.

"For example, under the old law, about 7,000 beneficiaries in the Monroe district are due to receive checks September 3, for the month of August, amounting to nearly $227,500. In comparison, their September checks, to be delivered early in October and reflecting the new amounts, will total about $260,000.00, an immediate increase of $32,500.00 or over 11 per cent in the monthly payments in this district."

The amended social security act:

1. Extends coverage, commencing January 1, 1955, to about 10 million more gainfully - employed people, including self - employed farm operators and most farm workers.

2. Increases benefits to all present and future retired workers and to their dependents and survivors.

3. Determines benefits on a more advantageous basis by permitting a worker to drop out as many as five years of low or no earnings in computing his average wage, and by increasing to $4,200 the amount of annual earnings that can be counted toward benefits.

4. Preserves the rights of totally disabled workers to any rights they may have earned and provides for their referral to state agencies, for rehabilitation services.

5. Permits employed and self-employed beneficiaries under age 72 to have earnings up to $1,200 in a year without loss of social security payments. (A beneficiary 72 or over will be able to receive all his payments regardless of the amount he may be earning after 1954).

Returns To Normal

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Sao Paulo, Brazil's industrial metropolis, struggled back toward normal today after a 24-hour strike which kept 45 per cent of the city's 700,000 laborers away from work. The unions had ordered a general walkout in support of demands for pay increases and price freezing. Officials said many of the workers who stayed away did so from fear of rioting or lack of transportation.

Little violence was reported.

Pins Given To CAA's Personnel

In a brief ceremony at the Civil Aeronautics administration headquarters at Selman field here this week, four members of the CAA personnel were presented with service pins and letters of commendation in recognition for their service with the federal government.

Those honored include Noel R. Henderson, Marcus B. Cole, and Harold V. Odom, airways operations personnel, and Robert E. Griffith, supervisory electronics maintenance technician.

Henderson received a 20-year pin and the remaining three each received 10-year pins.

The pins were presented by Jack Hover, facility chief of the local CAA station, on behalf of L. C. Elliott, regional administrator.

This year 1166 ten - year pins have been awarded and 1745 twenty-year pins in the CAA's second region, which includes 11 states, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Swan Island, W.I.

The letter of commendation from the regional administrator said in part:

"The Civil Aeronautics Administration has played a vital role in the advancement of the aviation industry, and there are opportunities for even greater achievements in this comparatively new mode of transportation.

"These achievements are a reflection of the combined efforts, initiative and ingenuity of its individual employes.

"It is my hope that your association with the Civil Aeronautics Administration may continue for many additional years to our mutual benefit and satisfaction."

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX My wife, Rosalie, left me two months ago after four years of marriage. She is 22, I am 28. We have no children and never had a home of our own. We lived with her people who have been trying right along to separate us; they did not like me. After Rosalie left, I, of course, returned to my own family.

Our chief difficulty has been that she wanted a career while I wanted a family. She is a talented musician and wanted to continue studying, but I insisted she give it up because I thought she'd soon tire of lessons anyway. Now the only condition on which she'll come back to me is that I let her continue music lessons. Although I love her dearly, I can't consent to this arrangement as I think she should be devoting her time to a family.

Monty

COMPROMISE DEMANDED

ANSWER: When stubborn pride meets implacable resistance, the results are apt to be irreconcilable differences. Neither you nor your wife is prepared to give an inch to resolve your problem, yet it appears that you love each other and both would welcome a reconciliation. Primarily, your need is for a third party to help you reach a compromise. Consult a marriage counselor who will set you on the right path.

You neglected to give a reason for not setting up your own home. Was it because your wife wished to live with her people, because you couldn't afford a home for her, or because you welcomed the lack of responsibility provided by living in someone else's house? If you were at fault in not setting up a domicile for Rosalie, you can't blame her for not wanting to begin her family. There are many, many objections to young folks setting up housekeeping under parental roofs and one of the major ones is the continuing dependence that soon becomes chronic. You would probably overcome most of Rosalie's opposition if you'd promise her a home of her own. One responsibility will soon make her willing to assume others, such as the care of children.

You must also bear in mind, Monty, that when a girl has a definite gift, as Rosalie has, it has been given to her by God to use. There's no reason why your wife should give up her music completely. There are church choirs, civic groups, community choral or dramatic groups, that would welcome her talent. Using it in the right way will make her a better wife and mother. Don't be jealous of her gift, help her put it to good use.

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago I broke off with a girl I had dated for several months. I was just too young to realize what a fine person she was. Now that I know what I gave up, I am very sorry, and though I have tried to date her several times she seems completely uninterested in me. I'm sure she's afraid of a recurrence of the early affair. I'm 20 years old and she's 18.

M.S.

ANSWER: You are still very young and it won't hurt a bit if your wooing is prolonged. If you like the girl so much, be as friendly and pleasant as she'll permit and I'm sure your persistence will win out eventually.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a divorcee with four children whose ages range from 1 to 12. My ex-husband remarried shortly after the divorce. He is permitted to see the children at my convenience, but I have never refused him visiting privileges. The trouble is that he is particularly attached to one of the children, actually ignoring the others to court favor from her. He wants to take her for a few weeks and I don't know whether to let her go or not.

R.R.

ANSWER: I would strongly advise against permitting one child to go for a visit from which the others are excluded. You will find it difficult enough to raise four children without a father's care. If there is dissension among the youngsters, it would make your task much harder.

Write DOROTHY DIX for free leaflet D-2, "Divorces - Separations." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Billy The Kid No Robin Hood

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 3—UP—Billy the Kid, notorious gunfighter of the Old West, was far from the "Robin Hood of the Southwest," an authority on the young killer says in an introduction to his biography.

The biography, "The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid," was written by the man who shot and killed William H. Bonney—Sheriff Pat Garrett.

It was published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

J. C. Dykes of College Park, Md., who wrote the introduction, says the Kid was "a bucktoothed, thieving, murderous little cowboy-gone-wrong."

What's more, says Dykes, the 21-year-old gunman did not notch 21 victims—he killed only seven.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Here's What To Do About Fat Across The Shoulders

We are very conscious of the way we look from the front. Why not take a figure profile view once in a while? You can stand with one side toward a full length mirror, and with the help of a hand mirror, see yourself as others see you.

Are you surprised to find that your abdomen protrudes a bit? That your shoulders have a tendency to slump and you had not realized it? That your head protrudes forward? Sometimes these little slumps slip up on us. That is one value of candid shots. When the camera catches us unposed we give our natural posture away.

It's Unusual

Nothing is so attractive at any age as good posture and this is especially true of women from middle age on because it is unusual. Gravity and poor postural habits and a decrease in muscle tone will all have their effect unless you fight them.

Another thing you may notice when you look at yourself side view or rear view is fat across the shoulders. Many women who are only a little overweight have this. Here are two corrective exercises for this fatty accumulation.

1. Stand tall. Raise your right arm sideward, shoulder height. Swing the right arm to the left across your body at shoulder height. Reach as far to the left as you can. Return arm to starting position. Continue swinging across the body and returning to shoulder height sideward position. After a while do the same thing with your left arm swinging across to the right.

Bend Your Trunk

2. Stand with the feet separated and the arms raised overhead. Bend the trunk until it is at right angles to the body. Keep the arms and trunk in this position as you swing the trunk to the left, reaching as far to the left as you can. Swing trunk to the right, reaching as far to the right as you can. Continue. You will feel the pull across the back.

If you would like to have my bust developing and shoulder straightening exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "Don't Have Round Shoulders and Flat Bust—Reverse!" No. 7. Address Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

Pelican State Is Explained By Two Who Participated

The Civitan Club, at their Thursday night meeting in La Casa tearoom, had as guests two students who had attended Pelican State in Baton Rouge recently. They were Lovie Harper, attending Girls' State, and Craig Morgan, attending Boys' State. Miss Harper is a member of the O. P. H. S. senior class this fall and Mr. Morgan is a senior in Neville.

Miss Harper gave an entertaining and instructive talk on the way "government" is conducted at Pelican State, where all attending go through a formality of "electing," city, parish and state officers. The young people tackle the job, it was explained, as if they actually were in politics, and the experience gives them a close up knowledge of how elections take place — even each admitted at times "croked politics" appeared.

Miss Harper was first speaker and was followed by Mr. Morgan.

The club members expressed their pleasure in that their choice to represent them at Pelican State had been members of whom they could feel proud.

Another guest at the meeting was M. L. Causey.

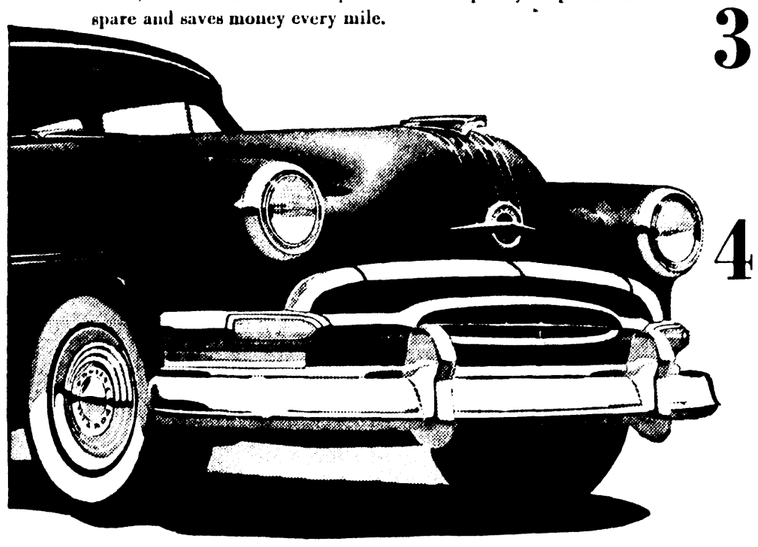
4 Important Reasons why you should buy a PONTIAC

RIGHT NOW!

1 Pontiac is One of the Greatest Cars Ever Built!

Match today's Pontiac with America's finest cars and you'll get a dramatic picture of Pontiac value. First of all, Pontiac is big—bigger, in fact, than many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Pontiac is beautiful—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling. Inside, you'll find genuine fine-car luxury and appointments—along with the roominess and comfort that come only with a long wheelbase. But the big surprise comes when you test Pontiac's performance. See how alert it is to every demand in traffic, how it handles and corners almost without effort, how it takes to the open road with plenty of power to spare and saves money every mile.



2 Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!

Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade, making ownership cost even lower.

3 Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!

After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see and compare it dollar-wise. Despite the fact it's a fine car in every sense of the term, it's priced so near the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac.

4 We'll Make You a Deal You Can't Afford to Miss!

Right now we're making such liberal trade-in allowances that you just can't afford to pass up the greatest opportunity you ever had to become a fine-car owner. Come in and get the facts.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR YOU CAN'T BEAT A PONTIAC!

High Legion Office Goes To State Man

Leonard L. Jackson's election to a national vice-commandership of The American Legion in Thursday's closing session of the 1954 National Legion Convention in Washington, D. C., marks only the fifth time that a Louisianian has been elevated to such a high Legion office.

The last Louisiana Legionnaire to hold a vice-commander post in the national organization was Richard C. Cadwallader of Baton Rouge back in 1946. Before him were the late Alcee S. Legendre of New Orleans in 1940; Roland B. Howell of Thibodaux in 1930, and Daniel B. Spurlock of Shreveport in 1927.

No man from Louisiana has ever held the post of national commander.

Jackson, a postmaster at Clarks, La., has held just about every important office on a post, district and state level during his 34 years continuous membership in The American Legion.

His career began in 1920 when he organized the Caldwell Post No 162 at Columbia, La., five miles from Clarks, and served as its first commander.

After serving on just about every district and state committee, he was elected Fifth District commander, then state vice-commander, and finally state commander in 1944-45.

On a national scale, the Clarks Legionnaire was Louisiana's national executive committeeman during 1949-50-51, and served as vice-chairman on two highly important committees, National membership and post activities and national counter subversive activities.

Illness Fatal To Character Actor Eugene Pallette

HOLLYWOOD, Sept 3 —UP— Eugene Pallette, burly veteran character actor, died Friday at his home here after a lengthy illness. He was 65.

Known to millions of theater-goers for his hearty laugh and portrayals of "fat man" parts, Pallette had been out of the movie industry for several years.

Pallete retired to a ranch near La Grande, Ore., in 1944 and stocked it with provisions "to protect myself from the atomic bomb." He returned to Hollywood later and took residence at a local apartment.

He was a graduate of Culver Military Academy and was active on the stage in this country and also made pictures in London before taking an active part in productions here.

7 Men Charged With Violation Of Mann Act

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The trial of seven men from southwest Louisiana, charged with violations of the federal Mann Act in an eight-state prostituting ring, will be held in federal district court here Sept. 27, assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Baldwin said today.

Baldwin, who earlier termed the ring the "biggest white slave case since the Lucky Luciano arrest," said the defendants transported a number of women over the eight-state area for prostitution, using planes in some cases.

Two other men entered pleas of guilty earlier. John Prescott, 42, Starke, Fla., and Tommie Marceaux, 26, New Orleans, entered guilty pleas, but federal District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry postponed sentencing until the others had been tried.

Baldwin identified those charged in the conspiracy as:

Joseph L. Sonnier, 35, New Iberia; Louis E. Roger, 27, Duson, La.; Arphy J. Sonnier, 21, Duson; Richard Lagneaux Jr., 30, Duson; Whitney Boutin, 22, New Iberia; Joseph Blanchard, 30, Rayne, La.; and Burley Duhon, 22, LaPlace, La.

Hottest, Driest August In History Of Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 3 — (AP) Last month was the hottest and driest August in Mississippi's history, the Jackson Weather Bureau said today.

The heat didn't set individual, daily records, but for sustained heat and lack of rain it was tops, meteorologist George V. Fish said.

Mississippi rivers also were at their lowest August levels in 38 years, when the first records were kept, the U.S. Geological Survey Office reported.

August temperatures set an all-time high average of 86 degrees.

Combined with only two-thirds the average August rainfall, it caused a blistering heat that parched much of Mississippi's farmland.

The Tombigbee River at Columbus had only 20 per cent of its normal August flow this year, the geological survey figures showed.

The Pearl River at Jackson was 25 per cent of normal.

The Leaf, Pascagoula and Chickasawhay rivers also were well under normal August flows.

Anyone who kills a horned toad in New Mexico, sells it or transports it out of the state is subject to a fine of $100 or a 60-day jail sentence.

American Chefs Elated At Winning 2nd Place In World Culinary Contest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — American cooking, a group of experts proudly announced today, now has reached the spot where it equals or surpasses anything produced anywhere else in the world.

"Once was thought of as abroad as a country of hamburgers and frankfurters," said chef Peter R. Berrini of Worcester, Mass. "Now the story's different."

The occasion for this international culinary significance: American chefs, competing in Switzerland, came in second only a point behind first place Germany.

This triumph, scored only last week, is being properly celebrated by 200 of the nation's top chefs, here for the 25th anniversary convention of the American Culinary Federation.

Berrini, a member of the federation's board of directors, said the American showing was a terrific shock to European epicures, who have always felt they had the only proper training grounds for topflight chefs.

"And the best of it is," Berrini said, "the man who won the most points is a chef from right here in Washington, who was trained right here in this country."

Here he got hold of Clement Maggia, the star of the U.S. team, who produced for the European judges, among other wonders, a cake six feet tall.

A picture of this prize winner was available, and it showed a monstrously bit cake, its base edged in American Beauty roses above which was a book entitled "Freedom" with a bald eagle on top of all.

"Why," said a reporter, properly impressed, "I must have been taller than you are. How tall are you?"

"Five feet 6," said Maggia.

"Five feet 7," said his wife.

"Five feet 7 with my high heels on then," said Maggia, grinning.

"Look at his ears," said Berrini, pointing to Maggia's ears, which were cauliflowered. "He got that boxing."

"Wrestling," said Maggia. "I used to wrestle at 145 pounds in New York. Won five titles."

"Even the ears American all the way," said Berrini, looking cheerfully at this additional evidence of our national culture.

Only one shadow darkens the chefs' happiness. Immigration laws have cut down the supply of talent from abroad, and the native stock, while it has done well when it tried it, hasn't been smitten with the cook stove.

A heated discussion then ensued as to why this was so. After considerable gesturing, and some animated talks with a number of accents, the consensus seemed to be: American boys simply haven't yet learned the joys of being a cook.

"It's so easy now," said Hermann J. Rusch, president of the Society Culinaire Philanthropique of New York. "Not like it was when I was learning in Switzerland. Fifteen, 16 hours a day, and then from 15 to 25 years before you became a chef. Now it's fast, and the pay is good."

Chefs not only like to cook; they also like to eat. And before they broke it up to dine on brook trout stuffed with crab, they all seemed to agree with Rusch.

"If I came back to this world," he said, "I'd like to be a chef again and again and again."

Today, Patsy's hometown doctor said she had polio and she was taken to Vicksburg's polio center.

LaSalle's Fair Set Sept. 20-25

JENA, Sept. 3 (Special)—Plans were being mapped here this week for the annual LaSalle parish fair which will be held Sept. 20-25, with a number of special events and 'days" planned.

A meeting of the officials of the fair association and interested citizens was held early in the week at the Jena town hall for discussion of the week-long fair meeting. Among those present were E. W. Plummer, fair association president; E. E. Jones, manager; H. D. Gaddis, secretary; Mrs. Maxine Reeves, T. S. Butler and E. R. McNeill, directors, and Bill Brasher, F. H. Shiel, Ed Bass, R. W. Wagner, Marion Taylor, J. E. Cammack and E. S. Newman.

Proposals were advanced for a log sawing and possibly wood chopping contest, to be featured on Forestry day, with J. E. Cammack, Hugh Burnum, N. V. Hawkins, H. D. Jackson, Ed Blevins and L. O. Denton named to the committee to work out details.

Thursday of the fair will be designated Negro day and Didley Thomas was appointed Negro chairman to work with fair officials in outlining activities for Negro day.

Friday of the fair will be school day, with special activities to be planned for children, including the possibility of a greased pig chase, among other activities suggested. Plans will be worked out for this day by F. H. Shiel and Ed Bass.

Due to the fact that LaSalle parish is the heart of hunting and fishing activities in central Louisiana, special events and contests such as fly tieing and dry casting for men, women and children, a duck caller's contest and other hunting and fishing sporting events possibly will be scheduled on various days of the fair. Neely Butler, Dr. Guy Campbell and Jimmie Wallace were appointed to the committee to work out these details.

There also will be a fiddler's contest, probably on Saturday's closing night of the fair, and possibly a square dance caller's contest. Ed Bass was appointed chairman to work out these phases of the fair activities.

Bob Owens will be chairman of the commercial exhibits committee to arrange booth displays by area merchants. Working with him will be Jimmy Wallace, H. D. Gaddis and O. A. Hester.

Armas Requests Foreign Money Investments

GUATEMALA (AP) — President Carlos Castillo Armas appealed last night for an inflow of foreign capital to help his new anti-Communist government get Guatemala back on her feet.

Addressing a mass meeting in front of the presidential palace, he promised guarantees to protect foreign investments and called for help in developing new industry.

"Destruction caused to the country by communism in both the social and economic domains is incalculable," said the leader of the June revolution against ex-President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's pro-Red regime.

Castillo said he would get legislation adopted to permit development of Guatemala's oil. He also promised an agrarian reform law free from the Marxist influences he said had dominated Arbenz' land redistribution measures.

Nehru To Visit Red China Soon

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today he will make his first visit to Communist China in October.

Foreign Ministry sources said Nehru is scheduled to leave Oct. 16 for a two-week stay, returning the visit Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai paid him last June en route home from the Geneva conference.

$15 Million Is Given Treasury By Land Office

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 3 (Special) — A record $15 million was turned over to the state treasury in August by the State Land Office, it was announced today by the office of Mrs. Ellen Bryan Moore, register of state lands.

August mineral receipts of $15,285,873.89 brought to more than $43 million the total collected by the State Land Office during 1954. A previous high of $9,137,130.99 for a single month had been established in June of this year by the Land Office.

Mrs. Moore is authorized as register of the Land Office to receive rental, bonus and royalty payments for Louisiana property leased to private oil, gas and mineral firms.

Total yearly receipts to date are $43,793,154.43, of which $21,600,632.17 are attributable to tidelands oil. The big August collection of $15 million included bonuses paid by oil firms to the State Mineral Board on newly leased offshore mineral areas.

The 1954 eight-month total of $43 million compares favorably with the biennial record of $63 million collected by the State Land Office during the 24-month period of 1952 and 1953, the announcement from Mrs. Moore's office said.

The upswing in Land Office mineral collections is due principally to leasing of new offshore areas by the State Mineral Board and also to new discoveries in older leased areas both inland and offshore, the announcement continued.

It was indicated that State Land Office collections would continue high in view of proposed leasing of other mineral-rich tidelands. September collections are expected to increase 1954 receipts another $5 or $6 million.

The State Land Office is responsible for Louisiana collection of monies from such items as trapping and hunting leases of state land, sales of timber from state land, right-of-way grants over state property, and redemption of land adjudicated to the state for nonpayment of property taxes.

Mrs. Moore's announcement said that only a very small portion of August receipts — exactly $3,954.03 — was collected on items other than oil and gas leases.

August receipts showed $15,254,919.06 collected from oil and gas leases, $305.50 from trapping leases, $86 from timber sales, $2,006.50 from right-of-way grants, $800.20 from school board land sales, and $756.63 from tax redemptions.

Of monies collected from mineral property, $13,413,684.02 was derived during the month from new inland and offshore leases, $1,809,385.04 from royalties and delay rentals, and $1,850 from lease deposits forfeited to the state.

Doris Day Now Answers Many Fan Questions

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3 —UP— This is my chance to answer some of the questions that pop up again and again in my fan mail and which I can't always answer with a personal letter.

Q. Is it true, Miss Day, that you had freckles when you were a kid? And in school, did your freckles keep you from having dates?

A. I not only had freckles when I was a kid but I have them now. I consider them an asset. As for when I was dating, I had as many dates as I had freckles.

Q. Did you ever sing on the excusion boat Island Queen that ran between Cincinnati and Coney Island on the Ohio River?

A. I did, indeed. And I also danced on that lovely old showboat. My name then as Doris Kapplehoff. I got the Doris from Doris Kenyon, who was a star before my time.

Q. How did you come to take the name Day?

A. I took it from the song, "Day after Day," which I sang at the audition that landed me my first job with Barney Rapp's band.

Q. What is your favorite among the songs you have recorded and sung on the screen?

A. I'll say "It's Magic." It was my first record to sell a million copies. "Sentimental Journey" gave me a lot of satisfaction because it was such a big hit with the boys away from home during the war.

Q. What is your philosophy on life in general?

A. A good question and easy for me to answer. I always say: Take it easy. Life was never intended to be a heartbreaking struggle. If it is, you're probably in the wrong business or doing the wrong things.

Q. Do you think success is largely a matter of luck?

A. Absolutely. In my case, I happened to be in the right place at the right time. When Warners was looking for a girl who could sing, dance and smile for "Romance on the High Seas," I was in the neighborhood.

Q. Ho did you meet your husband and is he a movie star?

A. My husband, Martin Melcher, was associated with Al Levy in an agency. One night Al was tied up and asked Marty to escort me to a radio broadcast. That's how we met.

No, my husband isn't a movie star, but he's handsome enough to be. People are always mistaking him for Stewart Granger. And is that bad?

Rodeo Days In Two Cities Are Set By Mayors

September 6-10 has been acclaimed rodeo days in the Twin Cities by Mayor John E. Coon and C. E. Ponder who is officiating in the absence of Mayor Allen Norris of West Monroe. The Monroe mayor and West Monroe alderman issued a joint proclamation yesterday urging residents of both cities to join in the western celebration and wear western clothes during the 9th annual R. C. A. Championship rodeo in West Monroe.

It as pointed out that the rodeo is being presented through the auspices of the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, North Louisiana Rodeo Association and West Monroe Business Men's Association.

It also stated that there will be nine rodeo queens from throughout this section who will compete for the title of "North Louisiana" rodeo queen and that riding clubs, state, parish and local officals will ride in the opening parade at four o'clock Monday afternoon.

The proclamation explained that a chuck wagon supper will be held at the rodeo grounds at 5 o'clock Wednesday and that the rodeo queen selling the most tickets to the supper will be "sweetheart" of the rodeo.

The "North Louisiana" rodeo queen, according to the proclamation, will be selected on Thursday afternoon and announced Thursday night during the rodeo.

For the first time, the newly organized West Monroe Riding Club's quadrille will perform at an R.C.A. rodeo and the West Monroe High School band will provide music each performance under the direction of Band Director Solon King.

The proclamation further asserted that the rodeo has become a Twin City civic enterprise and all citizens are urged to lend their support to help make it a success.

Date Unnoticed

LONDON (AP)—The 15th anniversary of Britain's declaration of war on Nazi Germany slipped by today hardly noticed as Prime Minister Churchill's government grappled with the problem of building defenes on two fronts.

Lord Reading, minister of state, left for Manila where he will head the 40-man British delegation to the Southeast Asia defense conference opening Monday. He replaces Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at the meeting. Eden is remaining in London to deal with the crisis stemming from France's rejection of the European Defense Community.

Benefits Boost Prepared For Railroad Group

Railroad employes who become unemployed or sick will receive larger benefits immediately as a result of amendments to the railroad unemployment insurance act approved on August 31 by President Eisenhower.

The railroad retirement act was amended in a number of ways at the same time, particularly by reducing, from 65 to 60, the age at which aged widows may receive monthly annuities. Widows with young children, of course, have been able to draw benefits regardless of age.

The larger unemployment and sickness payments are brought about by a generally higher benefit-rate schedule, along with a new provision that an employe's benefits will not be less than half of his regular pay for his last railroad job in the preceding year, up to a maximum of $42.50 a week in benefits. Almost all employes will get at least $30 a week.

Only employes who earned at least $400 in the preceding year can receive unemployment and sickness benefits. Formerly only $300 was required. Also, no employe can receive more in each type of benefit in a benefit year than his total earnings in the preceding year.

In addition to providing monthly annuities to widows at age 60, the new law permits the payment of monthly benefits to a widowed mother at any age if she is caring for a disabled child, even though the child is past age 18. Before, a widowed mother's annuity stopped when her youngest child became 18. Now, the child may also continue to draw benefits after that age.

Widows who are drawing railroad annuities of their own may now get the full widow's annuity to which they may be entitled on the basis of their deceased husbands' employment.

The amendments also change the work restriction for annuitants under age 65 who retired on account of disability. They may now earn as much as $100 a month without forfeiting their annuity for that month.

As of July 1, 1954, railroad employes and employers will pay railroad retirement taxes on employes' earnings up to $350 a month, instead of $300. Also, the railroads will now pay unemployment and sickness contributions on $350. This means, of course, that earnings up to $350 a month will be credited toward benefits.

Persue Terrorists

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—French parachute troops pursued a 70-man Nationalist guerrilla band in the Orbata mountains today after a clash Wednesday that left nine French soldiers and 12 guerrillas dead.

The parachute troops had been protecting French engineers conducting a map study in the area about 20 miles east of Gafsa.

Town Of Jena Starts Active Youth Program

By E. S. NEWMAN
Jena Correspondent

JENA, Sept. 3 (Special) — Thanks to the splendid co-operation of Warden Maurice H. Sigler of the Louisiana state penitentiary, motorists using the parking meters in the town of Jena will be adequately notified that all monies received through the parking meters is designated for boys and girls recreation work in Jena.

One of the first actions by the new town council, headed by Mayor Nick Edwards, was to adopt a resolution submitted by Councilman C. A. McCartney transferring all funds in the parking meter account to the youth recreation fund and to designate all future receipts for at least the next four years to the recreation fund.

The Jena Kiwanis club then undertook a project of placing plaques on all the meters to inform and remind the public of the use to which the parking meter money was being put. Stymied by the high cost of the plaques and faced with uncertain delivery even at the high prices, Dr. Guy Campbell, chairman of the Kiwanis club's committee for the project, discussed the matter with Publisher R. W. Wagner of The Jena Times who suggested that maybe the state penitentiary might have some scraps left over from making the license plates and that possibly some help could be obtained from those sources at a minimum cost.

Dr. Campbell then contacted Sheriff D. Floyd of LaSalle parish and explained the problem and Sheriff Floyd agreed to "do what I can" to help out.

A sample copy of the wording wanted on the plaques was sent by Sheriff Floyd to Warden Sigler asking for information and, if the work could be done, for prices.

This week Warden Sigler answered Sheriff Floyd's letter with a package containing amply supply of the plaques in bright red backgrounds with white block letters stating, "This money is for boys — girls recreation program. GIVE."

Accompanying the package under separate cover was the following explanatory letter from Warden Sigler:

"Dear Sheriff Floyd:

"In reply to your request of Aug. 16 relative to signs to be displayed on your parking meters, we are pleased to inform you that we have this day by parcel post forwarded these signs directly to you.

"We trust that you will be satisfied with the signs and that they will be useful in the program which you have outlined in your letter.

"We assure you that it was a pleasure to be able to provide these signs for the cause to which they are to be used. Since the cost of manufacture was negligible we are therefore waiving charges for their manufacture. We wish to extend our wholehearted support in the program to which these tags are to be used."

The program envisioned by McCartney's resolution adopted by the town council calls for the construction of a youth recreation center, a swimming pool and other recreational facilities "to keep our young people off the streets and out of mischief by providing them with a wholesome, planned program of recreation."

The Jena Kiwanis club and the Jena Chamber of Commerce were instrumental in laying the groundwork, making surveys, etc., leading up to the town council's action in setting aside the parking meter funds for the recreational program.

"We still have a long way to go to achieve our over-all program, but the action of the town council, the co-operation of Sheriff Floyd and Warden Sigler have put us a lot nearer our goal," Dr. Campbell said.

He, as chairman of the committee, and the Kiwanis club, acting as a body, have expressed their thanks to the town council, the sheriff and the warden, as well as all others who participated in the surveys and helped in planning the program.

Coy Doughty, superintendent of the water and gas department of the town of Jena, says the tags will be on the parking meters "as soon as we can get them there."

And Town Marshal Clyde Richardson has his ticket book and pencil handy for those who don't observe the meters and the reminder: "This Money is for Boys—Girls Recreation Program, GIVE."

Tigers Upset Bears, 14-13

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 3 (Special) — The Neville High School Tigers of Monroe, proving anything but the push-over expected for the Bolton High School Bears over the sophomore-studded invaders, upset the veteran Bruins, 14 to 13, here tonight in the opening football game of the season for the two elevens.

The Neville athletes, boasting only three lettermen and just one regular from last year's starting eleven, fought from behind all the way, caught the Bruins once just before the half, and still had to fight uphill nearly all the last half before snatching the game out of the fire in the last five minutes.

"Spec" Lewis, a rugged 155-pounder, scored the winning touchdown on a 36-yard junket after scoring the first for the Tigers on a two-yard plunge. Billy King's placements for extra points made the margin of difference.

Lester Woods and Johny Wheeler scored touchdowns for Bolton in the first and second quarters, and Eddie Lofton kicked the only Bruin conversion.

Both clubs swapped fumbles early in the opening quarter before Bolton staged a three-first-down march of 40 yards to the Neville 30 where another Bear fumble halted the drive. Neville punted out, and Woods, on third down, broke through the Tiger defenses to scamper 60 yards for the opening touchdown.

Neville dominated the second quarter, racking up five first downs to none for the Bears, and went ahead briefly with a minute and 16 seconds left in the half when Lewis capped a 52-yard Tiger march with two-yard touchdown plunge. Bill King kicked the point giving the Bengals a 7-6 edge.

But Johnny Wheeler took the following kickoff on the Bolton 18, broke through into the clear and raced 82 yards to give the Bruins the lead once more. Lofton's kick for the point was good and Bolton led 13-7 at the half.

The winning Neville drive started from Bolton's 49 where the Tigers downed a punt in the last quarter. The Tigers drove to the 36 where Lewis, with good blocking, smashed through and romped into the end zone standing up to tie the score. King's toe made the difference.

The Bruins hammered back, downing the kickoff on the Bruin 35 and driving to the Neville 28 with just two minutes left. Then the Tiger defenses tightened, held for down, and took over to hold the ball as the clock ran out.

Score by quarters:

Neville	0	7	0	7—14
Bolton	6	7	0	0—13

Norkus Whips Brion To Check Comeback

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Wild-swinging Charley Norkus, of Port Washington, N. Y., landed enough of his looping punches tonight to gain a split 10-round decision over Cesar Brion and ruin the Argentine's latest comeback bid, Brion, a 5-11 favorite, weighed 201¼, Norkus 196¾.

Doby Homer Breaks Tie; Tribe Shades Chisox, 3-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Larry Doby hung a tie-breaking home run high into Comiskey Park's right field stands tonight, giving the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox and enabling them to maintain their 3½-game American League lead over New York.

Doby's blow, plus some relief-pitching heroics by Mike Garcia, saved the game for Bobby Feller, who emerged with his 12th victory in 15 decisions at the expense of his colleague in the 35-year age bracket, Virgil Trucks.

The Indian outfielder lifted a good-all-the-way ball that barely missed clearing the right field roof with none on in the seventh inning. It broke a 2-2 tie the Sox had pulled into the previous inning when Jim Rivera also socked a none-on homer.

Complete Plans To Start World Series On Sept. 29

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick and the American and National League contenders decided today to keep ticket prices for the World Series the same as in 1953, and to open the series, as expected, in the National League park on Wednesday, Sept. 29.

If a playoff is required in either or both leagues, one day will intervene between its finish and the start of the series. Both races are close enough to indicate its possibility. The National League settles a tie with the best two-out-of-three games, and the American League with a single game.

Ticket prices will be $10 for box seats, $7 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room, and $2 for the bleachers. On all games played in New York or Brooklyn a 5 per cent city sales tax must be added. The Giants announced no box seats will be sold publicly since all have been allocated to regular season ticket holders.

The series, a best four-out-of-seven affair, will follow the usual pattern. There will be two games in the National League park, two—or three if needed—in the American League park, and then the action will shift back to the National League park for one or two more.

The series will run consecutively without any time off for traveling unless Milwaukee is the National League representative against the New York Yankees. In that case there will be one day between all changes in location.

Represented at the meeting in Frick's office were executives of the New York Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves, currently one-two-three in the National League, and the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees, one-two in the American League. The third place Chicago White Sox were not represented.

Frick announced no park used for a series game can be used for another sports event for the duration of the series. The Cleveland Browns, professional football team, have a game scheduled for Municipal Stadium in Cleveland Sunday night, Oct. 3. If Cleveland wins the American League pennant and the series runs five games, there would be baseball in the afternoon. Frick's office said it was presumed this means the Browns must re-schedule their game. Rain or extra innings could easily cause a collision with the football game.

All series games will start at 1 p.m., local time, except Sunday games in New York, which start at 2:05 p.m.

By keeping the same scale of prices as used in the 1953 World Series, baseball stands to gain, since in the meantime the federal amusement tax has been cut by 10 per cent.

Williams Sparks Red Sox in 11-1 Defeat Of Macks

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3 (AP)—Ted Williams became the fifth top home run hitter in major league history tonight with a two-run blast that sparked the Boston Red Sox to an 11-1 win over the Philadelphia Athletics. Williams leads all active players in the home run department.

The homer Williams' 25th of the season, raised to 362 his lifetime major league total. Only the late Babe Ruth (714) Jimmy Fox (534), Mel Ott (511) and the late Lou Gehrig (494) ever hit more. The hit put Ted one ahead of the 361 total racked up by Joe DiMaggio during his tenure with the New York Yankees.

Polo Grounders Grab Four-Game Margin In Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) — Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, batting for himself with two on, two out and the score tied, smashed his first hit of the season and drove in the deciding run as the New York Giants whipped Brooklyn 7-4 tonight. The victory moved the Giants four full games in front of the Dodgers in the National League pennant race.

Wilhelm had gone hitless in 16 previous times at bat. The Giants added two more runs for insurance with a four-hit attack on Clem Labine in the eighth and ended the night with 15 hits.

The Dodgers had held the upper hand until Wilhelm came through in the seventh. They jumped into a two-run lead in the first, pushed ahead 3-2 in the second after the Giants had come back to tie and led 4-2 in the sixth before the Giants' 10th this season over Brooklyn but their first since early July.

Wilhelm, taking over from Sal Maglie at the start of the seventh, received credit for the victory. He loaded the bases on walks after fanning the first two men in the eighth and he gave up a single to Pee Wee Reese with one out in the ninth. But he struck out Gil Hodges to end the game.

Richardson Wins Upset Over Top Anzac, Lew Hoad

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Young Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., playing the greatest tennis of his career, upset Australia's No. 1 ace, Lewis Hoad, in a tense and bitter three-hour battle today to gain the semi-finals of the National Tennis Championships. The scores were 6-4, 7-5, 11-13, 4-6, 6-3.

Richardson's brilliant triumph broke an otherwise day of almost solid conquest for the tennis-playing wizards from down under who have held the Davis Cup since 1950.

All other matches in the men's division were a round behind Richardson.

The defending champion, Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, led this advance in virtual obscurity by defeating the Davis Cup captain, Bill Talbert, New York, 7-5, 6-3, 6-0.

Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, America's second seeded hope, moved into the quarter finals with an important triumph over southpaw Neale Fraser, a member of Australia's "second team," 4-6, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2.

Other fourth round winners were: Ken Rosewall, Australia's No. 2 Davis Cup star, who defeated Edward Moylan, Trenton, N. J., 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3; Rex Hartwig, Australia, who beat 40-year-old Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, Fla., 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, and lefty Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., 1950 champion, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5, victor over Herbie Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif.

In the women's division, the two top-seeded women, Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., gained the semi-finals. Miss Brough defeated Betty Rosenquest Pratt, Jamaica, B.W.I., 6-2, 6-3. Miss Hart won over Lois Felix, Meriden, Conn., 6-1, 6-1.

Lattner At Fullback For Steeler Machine

OLEAN, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Johnny Lattner, former star Notre Dame halfback, will get a crack at the fullback job with the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers.

Coach Walt Kiesling announced the switch today after surveying results of the latest Steeler loss, a 24-14 defeat by the Philadelphia Eagles last Wednesday night at Rochester, N. Y. The Steelers have dropped four consecutive pre-season exhibitions. Lattner has been used at right halfback.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE got underway at Louisiana Tech Wednesday and two-a-day field practice sessions are scheduled this week. Heading the Tech gridders this season will be co-captains James Oliver, left, a bruising fullback from Bossier City, and Jesse Sterts, rugged guard of Lake Charles. Both were outstanding last season in helping the Techmen tie for the Gulf States Conference championship. Tech opens the season September 18 in a home conference game with Louisiana College.

Atlanta Editor Blasts All-Star Grid Contest

ATLANTA, Sept. 3 (AP) — College football coaches have been "taken for a ride, gangland style," in taking part in the annual Chicago Tribune charity game between college stars and professional teams, the Atlanta Journal said today.

Ed Danforth, Journal sports editor, said in his column that a survey of college coaches indicates they will forbid any of their number to coach college stars in such games in the future.

Danforth said Jim Tatum, Maryland coach, probably will go down as the last college coach to direct the College All-Stars in the Chicago charity games.

"When the sports editor of the Tribune rawhided Tatum after the All-Stars were badly mauled by the Detroit Lions 31-6," Danforth wrote, "it penetrated the innocent victims of the system that they had been sucker.

"For $1,000, men like Frank Thomas, Elmer Layden, Eddie Anderson, Carl Snavely, Frank Leahy, Bud Wilkinson, Herman Hickman, Bobby Dodd, undertook to field a team of ex-college men and play a tough, well organized professional team.

"When the pros took the game lightly, the college coaches looked good. When the pros tried, the college coaches looked like chumps.

"For a skimpy check, the college teachers risked their reputations and the reputation of college football in a newspaper charity fund."

Danforth said that aside from the reputation of the coaches, the game carries a lethal dose for college football to swallow.

"They call the All-Stars, 'the college All-Stars'. Therefore in the public mind the pick-up team represents college football," the Atlanta sports writer continued.

"Nothing could be farther from fact. The All-Stars are ex-collegians, mostly signed to professional contract. The All-Stars are, in reality, professional freshmen.

"So what the Tribune is selling the public is an exhibition between the professional varsity, champions of the preceding year, and a pick-up team of pro freshmen. It simply is not contest, unless the pro varsity loafs on the job."

Danforth said that after the latest charity game, Arch Ward, sports editor of the Tribune and promoter of the game, called Tatum a blundering coach and announced that from now on, college coaches would have to promise a wide open game.

"No college coach in his right mind would agree to any such obligation and run the risk of being criticized afterward," the Atlanta editor said. "After all, how many successful college teams did Ward ever coach?"

Schoendienst Rides Bench With Injury

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3 (AP) Red Schoendienst, St. Louis Cardinal second baseman who leads the National League in hits, will be sidelined a few days with a pulled right shoulder muscle, team physician Dr. I. C. Middleman said today.

Middleman said X-rays disclosed no bone trouble. The Cardinal captain is aiming to attain the 200 hit mark for the 11th time in his career this year. He has a total of 172 hits going into Wednesday's games. He is batting .345, the Philadelphia Phillies' Richie Ashburn leads with .350.

America's Girls Wallop British For Curtis Cup

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—Two American girls with the good Irish names of Riley and Doran sparked the United States to a crushing victory in the eighth Curtis Cup international golf match with Britain's best today.

The final count was 6-3 in favor of the American girls—a respectable count as far as the visitors were concerned, but for practical purposes it was all over when plucky little Polly Riley of Fort Worth and tall, attractive Claire Doran of Cleveland polished off their English opponents at a comparatively early hour in the afternoon.

Miss Riley piled up the biggest margin in Curtis Cup history, 9 and 8, against Elizabeth Price, a journalist from Surrey, and the heroine of Britain's only Curtis Cup victory in 1952.

Miss Doran, playing brilliant golf for 26 holes after nearly knocking herself out of the picture on the first seven, trimmed Jeanne Bisgood, the Bournemouth barrister, 4 and 3.

That made the count five points—enough to win — for the United States before the British Isles team had captured a single match. The Americans, in a surprising form reversal, had taken all three of the "Scotch" foursome matches Thursday.

After that it was rather anticlimactic when Frances Bunty Stephens, twice British women's champion, took the measure of American champion Mary Lena Faulk, 1 up, on the final hole of a capsule-packed match and Eire's Philomena Garvey and Scotland's youthful Janette Robertson came through in the last two matches.

Jacoby On Bridge

It Takes Courage For Shrewd Play

How would you play today's hand at a contract of six hearts? West opens the three of spades, and you win the first trick in the dummy with the ace. The next move is up to you.

The "normal" play is to lay down the king of hearts and lead another heart to your ace. If you make this play, you are immediately in hot water. If you continue with the trumps, East will get a trump trick and three spades. If you abandon the trumps in order to lead the diamonds, East will ruff a diamond and return a trump to stop the picnic. Careful defense will thus set you at least two tricks.

When the hand was actually played in a recent tournament, the South player was Harry J. Fishbein, one of my favorite bridge partners. Harry liked the slam contract so well that he executed a safety play to assure its success.

After winning the first trick in the dummy with the ace of spades, Fishbein led the six of hearts from dummy and played low from his own hand. This remarkable play allowed East to win the trick with the seven of hearts, but this was the last trick that the defenders could take.

If East returned a spade, dummy was ready to ruff with the eight of hearts. Declarer could then continue with the king of hearts, return to his hand with a club, and then draw the rest of the trumps. No defense could prevent declarer from playing all of the trumps, making four trump tricks, five diamonds, and the three top cards in the black suits.

It goes against the grain to give up the first trump trick when you have a strong suit headed by the ace-king-queen, but in this case the play made a difference of more than 1,000 points.

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

South	West	North	East

You, South, hold: Spades A-K-Q-7-5-3, Hearts A-Q-2, Diamonds 8-6, Clubs K-2. What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. You need very little from partner to have a fine play for game—some sort of tolerance for spades and a little strength in either hearts or clubs should be enough. Hence you can afford to extend this strong invitation.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-K-Q-J-5-3, Hearts A-Q-2, Diamond 8, Clubs K-3-2. What do you do?

Statistical Study Points To Worth Of Salk Vaccine

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 —UP—A statistical study Friday yielded a hopeful indication that the experimental Salk vaccine against polio may have been effective.

In the 217 test areas where some 440,000 children were vaccinated last spring, polio cases this year have been 40 per cent below a five year advantage. That isn't so for the country as a whole.

The vaccinated children were six, seven, anl eight years old. They and five nine - year - olders usually have 50 to 60 per cent of diagnosable polio.

Comparatively the two percentages are striking. But they must not be judged for anything more than they are — an indication only. No one can state the worth of the Salk vaccine until rigidly scientific studies of the results have been made, and they will take months.

The statistics were compiled routinely by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. No one at the the foundation would interpret them. The foundation believes, naturally, that the vaccine will be proven effective — otherwise it wouldn't have spent millions on the field trials. To assure a completely evaluation, a group of independent scientists at the University of Michigan has been designated to do the evaluating. Its report won't be ready until next spring.

This year's polio "season" is running only about 1,000 cases under last year's when the country as a whole is considered — a small net down. But in the 217 field trial areas the reduction is considerable. Last May this year's "season" was running ahead of last year's. The children began their vaccinations in late May and the polio incidence began declining in June. But keep in mind that this could have been due to "unknown factors" of which there are many in polio epidemiology.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the foundation, refused to comment on the statistics, pointing out that he is a believer in the vaccine and what he wants is scientific proof — or disproof.

American Mercy Fleet Transports 50,000 Refugees

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Navy reported today a mercy fleet of 40 ships has removed some 50,000 Vietnamese refugees from Northern Indochina in the last two weeks.

It described the operation as "the greatest humanitarian sealift in history."

Earlier, British official sources said in Singapore that many Vietnamese had grown impatient over delays and were going over to the Communist-led Vietminh.

Vietnamese eager to evacuate areas ceded to the Vietminh in the truce arranged at Geneva have crowded the beaches at Haiphong. French and Vietnamese officials estimated more than 100,000 would go.

Aboard the mercy ships which shuttle over the 800 miles between Haiphong and Saigon are men, women and children who chose freedom, though far from their homes. One vessel alone carried more than 800 children on a single trip, the Navy said in a report on its operation.

The mercy move started in mid-August and involves a fleet of transports, landing craft and cargo ships. Directing the operation is Rear Adm. Lorenzo S. Sabin.

In another phase of the program, the Navy hospital ship Haven is on the way to Saigon for 725 sick and wounded French prisoners who have been released by the Reds. They will be taken back to their homeland.

Blind musicians are seeking to develop an international system of musical notation for the blind.

Prosecution Witnesses Praise Col. Fleming

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., Sept. 3 —UP—The Army's prosecution witnesses in the court martial of Lt. Col. Harry Fleming announced through a public information officer Friday that they are not Fleming's accusers and "think very highly" of him.

Fleming, decorated career officer from Racine, Wis., is on trial charged with collaborating with his Communist captors in Korea.

The announcement of the Army witnesses was relayed by Col. Charles R. Bender Jr., public information officer who has acted as a liaison officer between the court martial and the press.

Bender told newsmen that the 13 witnesses wanted it understood that they did not make the charges against Fleming.

"They would like it clearly understood that they have been required to testify but at the same time think very highly of Col. Fleming," Bender said.

Some of the witnesses testified that Fleming criticized American and United Nations action in Korea while leading prison camp discussion groups, and "voice-signed" propaganda broadcasts of the Reds.

But in cross-examination they also admitted that Fleming was a "vigorous" leader of the prisoners who fought for more food and medicine and criticized communism when the Reds weren't listening.

Fleming pleaded innocent to the charges, contending that whatever he did was for the best interests of the prisoners and in some cases saved their lives.

The court martial was recessed until Wednesday after the defense presented a character witness for Fleming, John F. Ehlert, Temple, Tex., a retired U.S. Army colonel.

Ehlert said he had known Fleming for 13 years in service and considered him among the top third, "it not the very top," of officers he knew.

"His loyalty was unquestionable," Ehlert said.

Strikers Maul 3 Policemen In Detroit Battle

DETROIT, Sept. 3 —UP—Three policemen were mauled Friday while holding back a throng of angry pickets who forced returning Square D Co. workers to run a gauntlet of fists, rocks, eggs and tomatoes.

It was the second day of violence since the company, which severed relations with the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.), appealed to "loyal" workers to end their 81-day-old strike.

The troubled scene at the plant gates was one of at least 300 jeering pickets, 100 workers waiting to enter the factory, an equal number of new job applicants and 150 armed policemen standing by.

Workers, who walked to the plant in groups after being cleared by the employment office, were pelted as they made their way through police lines. Several pickets, shouting "scab," managed to reach over the shoulders of the line-up policemen and punch the workers.

At one point, the surging pickets broke through the sagging police lines when a group of employes passed by. Two patrolmen were knocked to the ground and patrolman James Baker was kicked in the ribs helping one of them to his feet.

Mounted police bolstered the steel-helmeted officers and pushed back the pickets, who far a time threatened to storm into the plant to get at the returning workers.

By mid - morning, the company announced that "production has begun on a limited basis." It marked the first time the embattled plant had been in operation since the UE ordered its 1,200 workers to strike last June 15.

The company, charging the prolonged walkout was "Communist inspired," coupled its back - to-work-plea with a warning that any of the 1,200 employes who failed to report by Wednesday were automatically fired.

U. S. Fisheries Ship To Go On Another Cruise

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Sept. 3 —A fourth exploratory cruise by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel Oregon in search for high grade Yellowfin tuna was announced today.

The new three-week cruise was announced by Stewart Springer, chief of Gulf Fisheries Exploration, in the wake of a successful exploratory trip by the ship. The new cruise will begin Sept. 15 and end Oct. 7.

Springer said the Oregon returned Wednesday with 127 Yellowfins weighing a total of 13,042 pounds. The vessel had left port Aug. 10.

The Fish and Wildlife service is seeking to determine the extent of the tuna season in this Gulf area and also is experimenting with various methods of catching tuna and types of gear.

State Police To Conduct Holiday Safety Drive

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Louisiana state police today began an intensive campaign to give the state a "deathless" traffic safety record over laborday weekend.

Four state police airplanes flew over major cities dropping "slow down and live" leaflets, as troopers went on 12-hour shifts to keep a round-the-clock vigil over Louisiana highways.

Last Labor Day weekend six were killed and 107 injured in Louisiana highway accidents, but public safety officials are encouraged by Fourth of July weekend records that showed only one death.

Also, according to Public Safety Director Chester Owen, the June highway death rate was the lowest in five years.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP) — A late spurt in rye sent all deliveries of that grain into new seasonal high ground on the Board of Trade today. Several wheat futures also reached new seasonal peaks.

While rye was giving the bulls something to cheer about, soybeans were providing entertainment for the bears. Beans had losses extending to around 7 cents in the September future at one time and they ended with fair sized declines.

Corn finished firm after some early irregularity while oats, subject to some week end profit taking, ended with very little price change.

Wheat closed 1 to 2 cents higher, corn ⅝-1⅛ higher, oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, rye 3(AP)-4½ higher soybeans 1¾-5½ lower and lard 17 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

CORN: Sep 1.64⅜-½, Dec 1.55⅝-¾, March 1.59⅝, May 1.60⅞-61, July 1.61⅛.

OATS: Sep 75¼, Dec 77⅛-¼, March 78⅝, May 77.

SOYBEANS: Sep 2.96½-96, Nov 2.70¼-69¾, Jan 2.73¼-½, March 2.76-76¼, May 2.77½-77, July 2.78-78¼.

LARD: Sep 16.72, Oct 14.42-45, Nov 13.02, Dec 12.80, Jan 12.60, March 12.65a.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) —Cotton futures closed 35 to 90 cents a bale lower today. Profit taking and hedging increased toward the close, with final prices at the worst for the day.

Pressure in part was attributed to additional private crop surveys issued during the day which were higher than some of the earlier forecasts. Today three additional survey reports placed the cotton crop at 11,977,000, 12,165,000 and 12,200,000 bales respectively.

The average guess of 69 members of the New York Cotton Exchange was 12,197,000 bales. These figures compare with the government's August report of 12,680,000 bales. The next official report is scheduled for Wednesday, September 8.
